TRUMAN CALLS FOR "FAIR DEAL"

Demos Pledge To Back Most Of His Program

Many Lawmakers Adopt Wait-And-See Attitude On Taxes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Democrats in control of the new Congress generally applauded and promised support today for most of the program President Truman laid down in his state of the union message.

Southern Democrats provided an exception when they sat silent through his renewed proposals for civil rights laws. After his speech many openly pledged a fight to the last ditch against such laws as anti-lynch, anti-poll tax and a fair employment practices program.

On the Republican side, GOP leaders for the most part appeared aghast in their reactions to the amount of money they said would be required to carry out the President's proposed extension of government in social and economic fields.

But Republicans were not alone in asking: "Where is the money coming from?" Many members of both parties in the House and Senate took a wait-and-see attitude on Mr. Trumans' suggestion for $4,000,000,000 in new taxes to carry out his broad program. Many top Democrats were among those cool or lukewarm to proposals for higher taxes.

As for his message as a whole, there was the widest range of comment.

Lucas, McGrath Hail Program

Sen. Lucas, of Illinois, floor leader for Senate Democrats, said the program was "one designed to meet the needs of the great majority in this country."

Sen. McGrath (R.I.), Democratic national chairman, said, "I thought the speech completely kept faith with Mr. Truman's campaign and the party platform."

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said the address would make a "splendid appeal" to the people of the United States and the world. He conceded there will be a division of opinion on some of the domestic issues.

Many Republicans were critical. Rep. Hugh Scott, Jr., (Pa.), GOP national chairman, said "Mr. Truman is rolling high dice with the people's money. If Mr. Truman has his way, this will be known as the grabbag and payoff Congress."

Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.) tagged the proposals "in the main a super-New Deal program which means bigger government, greater spending and higher taxes."

Taft Opposes Tax Hike

Sen. Taft (Ohio), chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, said he agreed with and will support some of the President's recommendations. But if all of them are adopted, he said, "we shall have a totalitarian federal government in Washington."

Taft said he agreed that it is essential to balance the budget, but

Police Finally Turn Up Melon For Ailing Tot

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 5 (AP)—It was like finding a needle in a haystack but state police finally turned up a watermelon in January.

The juice of watermelons, used with some success in treating a rare kidney disease, was needed for two and a half year old Joey Duhy.

A trooper at state police headquarters in Baton Rouge heard a radio appeal for watermelons. He recalled seeing some melons a few days ago at a fruit stand on the highway between here and Baton Rouge.

The trooper got the fruit stand operator out of bed at 2 a.m., today and obtained five melons. Relays of state police rushed the melons into New Orleans and doctors began giving the juice to the child.

Final Settlement Of Some Organizational Problems Deferred

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 5 (AP)—The 1949 Legislature opened quietly tonight in rotine sessions which left most of the work until the morrow—including final settlement of some organizational problems.

It was conceded that there would be no shift in the Democratic floor leadership in the House, meaning that Delegate Pumphrey (D-Prince George's) would carry on as he did in 1947.

There never was any doubt that Sen. Sothoron (D-Prince George's) would continue as Senate majority leader.

Formal organization of both houses moved swiftly and smoothly, with Joseph R. Byrnes (D-Balto 5th) reelected as Senate president and C. Ferdinand Sybert (D-Howard) reelected as Speaker of the House.

Gov. Lane had postponed his message on affairs of state until tomorrow, so adjournment came shortly after 10 p. m.

Governor Plays Host

With problems or organization uppermost, the Governor spent the day and much of the night playing host to Maryland political leaders—discussing first one thing and then another.

A major House change in the making was the possible appointment of Delegate Robinson (D-Balto 4th) as chairman of the important House Judiciary, to succeed Delegate Melnicov (D-Balto 4th).

Nothing was certain and the answer probably would not be known definitely until some time tomorow.

Delegate Wilkinson (D-Prince George's) acted as speaker pro tem as the House convened. After his election, Sybert made a grief speech of thanks and told the delegates about the improvements which have been made in the Statehouse.

House Demos Chose Austin

The House Democrats chose as their next chief clerk F. Byrne Austin of Montgomery County. Austin was the Democratic nominee for Congress from the Sixth District last November. He was defeated by J. Glenn Beall, Republican.

Convening of the House and Senate for the opening of the 90-day session was purely a formality on the surface.

But behind it all still arose the question of House leadership.

The chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee is the majority floor leader and upon that appointment hinges the committee alignment all around.

Although there was much corridor talk about opposition to Pumphrey, late afternoon developments indicated strongly he would stay where he is.

President's Steel Plan Surprises

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—President Truman's proposal that the government consider going into the steel business was countered by industry claims today that its own expansion program will meet demands.

Mr. Truman did not indicate what yardstick might be applied but some government officials have called for a 10,000,000-ton increase or more in steel-making capacity.

The steel industry currently is operating at about 100 per cent capacity with an output estimated at about 95,000,000 tons. Under present expansion programs industry spokesmen predicted that the 1949 capacity will exceed even the wartime peak and will bring supply and demand into balance this year.

The White House plan was sure of at least one strong supporter on Capitol Hill. Sen. Murray (D-Mont), who presumably will head the Senate Small Business Committee, if it is extended, called for almost identical action last spring at the height of the steel "grey market" investigation.

The proposal, virtually unprecedented in peacetime, was the biggest surprise for businessmen in Mr. Truman's state of the union message.

UMT Bill Introduced By Maryland Senator

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (INS)—Sen. Tydings (D) Md., introduced a universal military training bill today which would require all American youths between 17 and 20 to enlist for instruction.

Introduction of the legislation came soon after President Truman told the joint session in his "state of the union" message that UMT "is essential to the security of the United States."

All youths would be required to register when they reach the age of 17. After a 16-week's compulsory basic training course, each youth would select one of nine alternative services.

These include enlistment in the regular services, National Guard, any reserves or enrollment at the West Point or Annapolis academies. Each program runs for several years.

Truman Budget Request May Exceed 41 Billions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — Key Democrats predicted today that President Truman's new budget will call for the biggest peacetime outlay in United States history — $41,900,000,000 or about $283 for each citizen.

This tops the $39,500,000,000 figure for the current fiscal year but is far below the wartime mark of $98,700,000,000 set in fiscal 1945.

Details of the administration's financial plans for the year beginning July 1 will not be known until Mr. Truman outlines them Monday. However, he gave top legislative leaders a budget preview at the White House shortly before telling a joint session of Congress about the state of the union.

Rep. McCormack (D-Mass), the new House floor leader, told reporters after the White House conference:

"The budget is high, but absolutely tight. The requests are in line with demands and are absolutely essential."

Mr. Truman told the joint session that the government will need $4,000,000,000 in new taxes to help meet the mounting federal costs. He said that most of the money should come from additional corporate taxes, and a portion from revised estate and gift levies. The President also recommended that Congress consider raising personal income tax rates in the middle and upper brackets.

There wasn't any applause as Mr. Truman read his tax recommendations.

As for the budget, the lawmakers who attended the White House session said that slightly more than $15,000,000,000 of the new outlays would be for military costs, including stockpiling of strategic materials and the first year cost of starting a universal military training program. The proposed military spending would be some $3,000,000,000 over the current expenditures.

Foreign Committee Setup Assailed By Vandenberg

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) today accused the Senate Democratic majority of violating the "spirit of bipartisan cooperation" in cutting down the ratio of Republicans on the Foreign Relations Committee.

But Sen. Barkley (D-Ky), Vice President-elect, told newsmen:

"There is absolutely no disposition to reflect on the bipartisan foreign policy."

With the Democrats in control of the new Congress, Democratic leaders set up an 8-to-5 ratio for Foreign Committee seats — eight for Democrats, five for Republicans.

In the last session, under GOP control, Republicans took only seven seats and gave the Democrats six.

Chinese Reds Spurn Chiang Peace Offer, Vow "Finish Fight"

Marines To Leave, China Editor Says

TSINGTAO, China, Thursday, Jan. 6 (AP) — A reliable Chinese journalist reported today that the United States Marines were preparing to leave their barracks at Shantung University, despite official denials.

Y. C. Jao, editor of the English language Tsingtao Peoples' Herald, reported that "the university is proceeding with preparations to take over on January 25."

"While both Navy and Marines were reticent on preparations for evacuation of shore billets, observers here felt the impending change reflected changing United States policy," Jao added.

"Reports here," Jao said, "were that some marines will remain afloat here but others will be transferred to Guam."

Jao said there are, at present, about 3,000 marines here. More than 600 other leathernecks are stationed afloat on the Shanghai riverfront.

Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger, commander of the Western Pacific Fleet, denied yesterday that the marines would leave their billets at the university. He said he had terminated discussions about turning back to Chinese authorities the university property.

Jao had reported the impending move Tuesday. After considerable time had elapsed, the Admiral issued a statement of denial.

(It was learned in Shanghai reliably Wednesday that a letter from the marines to Chinese authorities in Tsingtao had advised the lease on the campus would be terminated on January 25. But some Navy officials said the letter was written "by error" and had been cancelled.)

Fighting Lull Ends As Communists Open Attack Near Tientsin

SHANGHAI, Thursday, Jan. 6 (AP)—Chinese Communists began shelling government position around Tientsin today after the Reds scornfully rejected Chiang Kai-Shek's peace offer.

The artillery fire broke a two-week lull which had settled on China's farflung battlefronts amid a rising clamor for peace. Chinese newspapers in Shanghai reported that the attack near Tientsin seemed to be mounting in intensity.

A Red broadcast heard in Shanghai late Wednesday night had warned of the attack, declaring that "a general assault on besieged Peiping, Tientsin and Tangku (seaport for Tientsin) is imminent."

From Peiping, Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa reported nothing more exciting than police beginning "a nightlong check-up for what they called undesirable elements." He added, however, that small-scale clashes were reported on Peiping's outskirts.

Another indication that the lull at Peiping was not only continuing, but expected to last for some time, was an announcement in Shanghai that commercial air service to that ancient capital would be resumed.

Officials Reported Packing

The Chinese National Aviation Corporation said its regular service of four trips weekly would be resumed with the planes landing at the new "Temple of Heaven" airfield inside the city. The Reds seized Peiping's south airfield about three weeks ago.

Meanwhile, government officials in Nanking were reported packing again for possible flight southward. They were convinced that the Communist answer to President Chiang's peace offer, made on his terms, would be an emphatic "no."

The Communist broadcast heard here seemed to be directed to Red armies in the Tientsin, Peiping area. It said:

"The peoples' liberation armies are more than 3,000,000 strong now. The aim is final victory and complete destruction of the Kuomintang reactionaries and expulsion of the forces of American aggression from China."

(The Communist radio heard at San Francisco broke its five-day silence on the peace overtures with two tough-talking broadcasts.

(One threatened to attack Historic Peiping at once unless it surrendered. The other said final victory was near and would mean "the complete destruction of the Kuomintang (government) reactionaries and the expulsion of the forces of American Imperialist aggression from China.")

"Delaying Action"

The broadcast from North China by the Communist New China News Agency, as heard by the newspaper Sin Wan Pao in Nanking, said President Chiang's New Year's Day peace-on-his-own terms speech was "delaying action."

The Chinese Communists, it added, "intend to maintain their original plan to fight to the finish."

(The later English language broadcast from North China quoted a Communist commentator for the agency as saying that in 1949 Red armies will cross the Yangtze into South China.

California Frost Loss $20,000,000

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5 (AP)—A killing frost, the worst in Southern California in 35 years, brought losses estimated today at $20,000,000.

The nation's pocketbooks quickly began to feel the chill as citrus prices started climbing.

One section alone, San Bernardino County, which accounts for about a fourth of California's citrus production, estimated an $8,000,000 loss. And County Farm Advisor Albert Salter, who said a third of the crop may be gone, added that growers had spent $2,250,000 in two nights of heating orchards with burning oil.

Citrus returns more than $100,000,000 to California growers each year.

In Imperial County, at least a million dollar loss was the estimate of the farm commissioner there, with the winter tomato and pea crops heavy losers. Much of the citrus and Imperial Valley vegetable crops go to eastern markets.

There, the California Fruit Grower's Exchange reported, oranges, lemons and grapefruit were up an average of 50 cents a box.

The exchange, which markets about 75 per cent of the California-Arizona citrus crop, said it had not withdrawn quotations on fruit enroute to eastern market, but the smaller American Fruit Growers, Inc., cancelled its quotations both on fruit en route and ready for shipment.

New Drive To Change Election System Opens

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP)—A new bipartisan drive to change the presidential election system was launched today by Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) and others.

Joining him in sponsoring the measure were Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), Fulbright (D-Ark.), Hoey (D-N.C.), Sparkman (D-Ala.), Stennis (D-Miss.), Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Neely (D-W.Va.), Smith (R-N.J.), Morse (R-Ore.), and Flanders (R-Vt.).

Planes Will Drop Food And Fuel To Towns Isolated By Heavy Snow

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. Jan 5. (AP)—The Red Cross today declared North Platte a disaster area as a devastating three-day blizzard blew itself out.

Local Red Cross Leader Don T. Swaim said food and fuel would be dropped by airplane to nearby towns where supplies were dwindling.

The development came in the wake of new stories of hardship, livestock losses and possible death.

At Alliance, Neb., search parties set out by tractor and plane to locate an Alliance businessman, Claude Hannibal, missing since Sunday night.

He left a snow-stalled truck to look for fence posts to be used in freeing the truck. A companion, Howard Smith, who stayed behind, was rescued 36 hours later by a cowboy from a nearby ranch. His hands and feet were frostbitten.

A cargo plane from Lowry Air Force Base dropped 75 cases of C-rations and 10 cases of canned milk at the Sioux Ordnance Depot near Sidney, where approximately 1,000 persons are isolated.

An Army spokesman at the depot said it was a precautionary rather than an emergency measure, although milk and some other items were in low supply.

Persons in the heart of the storm area, where the snowfall ranged up to 40 inches and drifts piled up 20 feet high, said outsiders would have trouble visualizing the completeness of the snow blockade.

Israel Reported Ready To Accept Cease-Fire Order

Jews Penetrate Egypt, Withdraw

TEL AVIV, Israel, Jan. 5 (AP)—Israeli troops knifed 30 miles into Egypt and then withdrew, a government spokesman said tonight. At the same time a private source reported the Jews had accepted the United Nations Security Council's cease-fire order.

The private informant, who has been usually reliable, predicted fighting between Jews and Egyptians in the Negev Desert of Southern Palestine will end soon. It was understood Israel's acceptance of the cease-fire will be sent to the Security Council tomorrow.

An Israeli Foreign Office spokesman who refused to be quoted by name said Jewish troops, which entered Egypt in a three-day battle, had withdrawn according to plan after killing or wounding several hundred Egyptians and taking several hundred more prisoner.

Egyptian Material Seized

He said the Israeli force had reached El Arish, a strong Egyptian military base including airfields and other installations about 90 miles from the Suez Canal. The spokesman said Egyptian material taken or destroyed included several bren gun carriers, artillery pieces, gasoline and oil stocks and other stores.

(In Cairo the Egyptian War Ministry said tonight Egyptian forces repulsed Israeli attacks last night and this morning on Egyptian positions near Rafa. The enemy suffered considerable losses in lives and armored cars, the ministry said.)

"There was never at any time any design on the part of Israel to occupy Egyptian territory," the Israeli spokesman declared. He said the penetration was made by troops "in hot pursuit of the fleeing enemy."

Peace Only Desire

He added that "Israel has no claims to the territory of other countries. It has but one desire—the cessation of hostilities and negotiations for a permanent peace."

The spokesman denounced what he called an "anti-Israel diplomatic campaign that the British government has been conducting in Washington." He repeated last night's charge by a government spokesman concerning "military preparations which the British government is known to be making in the Middle East."

Veteran School Bus Driver Dies, Record Intact

CITRONELLE, Ala., Jan. 5 (AP)—A. T. Prine was proud that for 20 years he had driven a Citronelle school bus without endangering the lives of his young passengers.

The 62-year old farmer suffered a heart attack during the Christmas holidays, but recovered. As a precaution, though, he asked his wife to ride with him when he resumed his daily bus trips.

Today as he drove along his rural route he felt the warning pains of another heart seizure. Carefully he stopped the bus and turned off the ignition.

Then, while the children aboard watched in startled horror, he collapsed in the arms of his wife and died.

Chief Executive's Program In Brief

$4,000,000,000 in new taxes, mainly on business.

Expand the Social Security program and raise the benefits.

Continue export controls, also priorities and allocation authority in the transportation field.

Authorize priorities and allocations for key materials in short supply.

Standby authority to control wages and certain prices, if necessary.

Authorize a study of facilities for producing materials now critically short, such as steel; authorize the government to construct production facilities itself if private business doesn't.

Rebuild and strengthen the Department of Labor.

Strengthen anti-trust laws.

Use farm price supports to achieve abundant agricultural production and parity of income for farmers.

Push rural electrification, and other matters of benefit to farmers.

Press the development of power, irrigation, navigation and flood control projects; authorize the St. Lawrence seaway.

Keep oil-rich tidelands for the government.

Pass housing legislation such as he frequently has recommended; build at least 1,000,000 low-rent housing units in next seven years.

Enact his civil rights program. (This includes anti-lynching and anti-poll tax measures, and a fair employment practice commission.)

Provide universal military training.

Restore reciprocal trade law "to full effectiveness"; extend it for three years.

Friday Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP)—President Truman will hold his weekly news conference at 10:30 a. m. (EST) Friday, the White House announced today. Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the President would meet the press Friday, instead of tomorrow, because of the pressure of work.

U. S. Again Gives Notice It Condemns Dutch Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP)—The United States today gave further notice of its disapproval of Dutch military action in Indonesia by recalling its delegate to a mediation group set up by the United Nations Security Council.

The Security Council had ordered a halt in the Indonesian fighting 11 days ago, but the Dutch did not issue a general cease-fire order until today. Dutch troops have now completed their occupation of the principal Indonesian towns.

Announcing that Delegate H. Merle Cochra had been called home for "consultation," the State Department said:

"This move is occasioned by the recent action of the Netherlands government in Indonesia, which abruptly interrupted the efforts of the committee of good offices to find through peaceful negotiations a satisfactory settlement of the three-year dispute between the Netherlands government and the Indonesian republic."

Backers Offer Bills To Carry Out Proposals

President Requests Tax Hike To Finance Vast Social Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP) — President Truman asked the Democratic 81st Congress today to increase taxes by $4,000,000,000 to help finance a vast social and economic program which he called a "fair deal."

Broadened social security coverage and bigger benefits, pre-paid medical and health insurance; 1,000,000 public housing units in seven years, and aid to education.

But his request for increased taxes met a cool reception. Legislators said they wanted to study it carefully.

The $4,000,000,000 tax boost would be aimed chiefly at corporations. Some lawmakers estimated that, in addition to his, the President's program would involve $6,000,000,000 in levies for increased social security benefits, health insurance and the like.

Among other recommendations that highspotted the 3,500-word "state of the union" message the President delivered in person to Congress were:

Wage-Price Curbs Asked

Authority to impose sweeping economic controls, including curbs on some wages and prices, power to build steel plants and other factories if deemed necessary in view of shortages; repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law; universal military training; aid to farmers; and the full Truman program of civil rights laws.

A quarter hour after he finished talking, seven Democratic senators introduced a bill for a 40-year, $18,000,000,000 program of public housing, slum clearance, farm home construction and housing research.

Sen. Myers (D-Pa), Aiken (R-Vt.) and McMahon (D-Conn) quickly offered bills to increase the minimum wage from 40 cents an hour to 75, as urged by the President.

Sens. Wagner (D-NY), McGrath (D-RI) and Murray (D-Mont), and Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) sponsored bills for a broader social security program and prepaid medical insurance.

They said their measures would provide health insurance for about 85 per cent of the population, and extend social security coverage to some 25,000,000 additional persons, at the same time doubling the average benefits.

Labor Act Repealer On Tap

Bills were on tap, for introduction tomorrow or later, to repeal the Taft-Hartley law, and carry out other phases of the Truman program.

Southerners sat on their hands as the President called for the civil rights program which tore the party last year. And the whole message brought a mixed reaction in statements issued later.

Some legislators hailed it as a "liberal" document with a "splendid appeal to the American people." Some denounced it as "socialistic" and a blow against individual liberties.

Mr. Truman, who saw his program riddled by the last, Republican Congress, laid special emphasis on "cooperation" in promoting what he called a "dynamic economy."

And he departed from his prepared text to plead for teamwork by Congress. Recalling that when he succeeded Franklin D. Roosevelt, he had asked cooperation, he continued:

"Now we are taking a new start in the same situation. It's absolutely essential that your President have the complete cooperation of Congress to keep the peace in this world and to keep this country powerful."

Mr. Truman said an aim of the nation should be to create wealth "for the benefit of all."

"We have rejected the discredited

Legislative Ball Starts Rolling On Labor Front

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP)—Administration leaders moved swiftly today to carry out President Truman's labor program centering around repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

Shortly after Mr. Truman made his state of the union report to Congress, Sen. Myers (D-Pa) started the legislative ball rolling on the labor front. He introduced a bill to raise the minimum wage from 40 cents to 75 cents an hour —as pedged by the administration and Democratic platform.

A major stroke however, was set for tomorrow. At that time Sen. Thomas (D-Utah), chairman of the Labor Committee, said he will offer a Taft-Hartley repeal measure.

Mr. Truman, who has been battling for such action, told Congress the 1947 labor law was unfair to working people because it "abridges their rights, curtails their constructive efforts, and hampers our system of free collective bargaining."

He then asked the lawmakers to replace it with the Wagner Act with "certain improvements."

Spokesmen for labor unions hailed the President's message as fulfillment of his campaign pledge and promised their cooperation in working with Congress on "constructive" amendments to the Wagner Act.

CIO President Philip Murray said Mr. Truman "has kept full faith with the people who elected him. x x x We are sure that both labor and management groups, meeting within the spirit and framework of the President's message, can reach substantial agreement, once the Wagner Act is restored, on any problems that may arise."

AFL President William Green said his union members will cooperate with the President's recommendations. Once the Wagner Act is restored, he said the AFL will "give sympathetic consideration" to amendments to strengthen collective bargaining and promote labor-management peace.

House Demos Chose Austin

The House Democrats chose as their next chief clerk F. Byrne Austin of Montgomery County. Austin was the Democratic nominee for Congress from the Sixth District last November. He was defeated by J. Glenn Beall, Republican.

Convening of the House and Senate for the opening of the 90-day session was purely a formality on the surface.

But behind it all still arose the question of House leadership.

The chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee is the majority floor leader and upon that appointment hinges the committee alignment all around.

Although there was much corridor talk about opposition to Pumphrey, late afternoon developments indicated strongly he would stay where he is.

President's Steel Plan Surprises

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—President Truman's proposal that the government consider going into the steel business was countered by industry claims today that its own expansion program will meet demands.

Mr. Truman did not indicate what yardstick might be applied but some government officials have called for a 10,000,000-ton increase or more in steel-making capacity.

The steel industry currently is operating at about 100 per cent capacity with an output estimated at about 95,000,000 tons. Under present expansion programs industry spokesmen predicted that the 1949 capacity will exceed even the wartime peak and will bring supply and demand into balance this year.

The White House plan was sure of at least one strong supporter on Capitol Hill. Sen. Murray (D-Mont), who presumably will head the Senate Small Business Committee, if it is extended, called for almost identical action last spring at the height of the steel "grey market" investigation.

The proposal, virtually unprecedented in peacetime, was the biggest surprise for businessmen in Mr. Truman's state of the union message.

UMT Bill Introduced By Maryland Senator

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (INS)—Sen. Tydings (D) Md., introduced a universal military training bill today which would require all American youths between 17 and 20 to enlist for instruction.

Introduction of the legislation came soon after President Truman told the joint session in his "state of the union" message that UMT "is essential to the security of the United States."

All youths would be required to register when they reach the age of 17. After a 16-week's compulsory basic training course, each youth would select one of nine alternative services.

These include enlistment in the regular services, National Guard, any reserves or enrollment at the West Point or Annapolis academies. Each program runs for several years.

Truman Budget Request May Exceed 41 Billions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — Key Democrats predicted today that President Truman's new budget will call for the biggest peacetime outlay in United States history — $41,900,000,000 or about $283 for each citizen.

This tops the $39,500,000,000 figure for the current fiscal year but is far below the wartime mark of $98,700,000,000 set in fiscal 1945.

Details of the administration's financial plans for the year beginning July 1 will not be known until Mr. Truman outlines them Monday. However, he gave top legislative leaders a budget preview at the White House shortly before telling a joint session of Congress about the state of the union.

Rep. McCormack (D-Mass), the new House floor leader, told reporters after the White House conference:

"The budget is high, but absolutely tight. The requests are in line with demands and are absolutely essential."

Mr. Truman told the joint session that the government will need $4,000,000,000 in new taxes to help meet the mounting federal costs. He said that most of the money should come from additional corporate taxes, and a portion from revised estate and gift levies. The President also recommended that Congress consider raising personal income tax rates in the middle and upper brackets.

There wasn't any applause as Mr. Truman read his tax recommendations.

As for the budget, the lawmakers who attended the White House session said that slightly more than $15,000,000,000 of the new outlays would be for military costs, including stockpiling of strategic materials and the first year cost of starting a universal military training program. The proposed military spending would be some $3,000,000,000 over the current expenditures.

Foreign Committee Setup Assailed By Vandenberg

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) today accused the Senate Democratic majority of violating the "spirit of bipartisan cooperation" in cutting down the ratio of Republicans on the Foreign Relations Committee.

But Sen. Barkley (D-Ky), Vice President-elect, told newsmen:

"There is absolutely no disposition to reflect on the bipartisan foreign policy."

With the Democrats in control of the new Congress, Democratic leaders set up an 8-to-5 ratio for Foreign Committee seats — eight for Democrats, five for Republicans.

In the last session, under GOP control, Republicans took only seven seats and gave the Democrats six.

Marines To Leave, China Editor Says

TSINGTAO, China, Thursday, Jan. 6 (AP) — A reliable Chinese journalist reported today that the United States Marines were preparing to leave their barracks at Shantung University, despite official denials.

Y. C. Jao, editor of the English language Tsingtao Peoples' Herald, reported that "the university is proceeding with preparations to take over on January 25."

"While both Navy and Marines were reticent on preparations for evacuation of shore billets, observers here felt the impending change reflected changing United States policy," Jao added.

"Reports here," Jao said, "were that some marines will remain afloat here but others will be transferred to Guam."

Jao said there are, at present, about 3,000 marines here. More than 600 other leathernecks are stationed afloat on the Shanghai riverfront.

Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger, commander of the Western Pacific Fleet, denied yesterday that the marines would leave their billets at the university. He said he had terminated discussions about turning back to Chinese authorities the university property.

Jao had reported the impending move Tuesday. After considerable time had elapsed, the Admiral issued a statement of denial.

(It was learned in Shanghai reliably Wednesday that a letter from the marines to Chinese authorities in Tsingtao had advised the lease on the campus would be terminated on January 25. But some Navy officials said the letter was written "by error" and had been cancelled.)

SHANGHAI, Thursday, Jan. 6 (AP)—Chinese Communists began shelling government position around Tientsin today after the Reds scornfully rejected Chiang Kai-Shek's peace offer.

The artillery fire broke a two-week lull which had settled on China's farflung battlefronts amid a rising clamor for peace. Chinese newspapers in Shanghai reported that the attack near Tientsin seemed to be mounting in intensity.

A Red broadcast heard in Shanghai late Wednesday night had warned of the attack, declaring that "a general assault on besieged Peiping, Tientsin and Tangku (seaport for Tientsin) is imminent."

From Peiping, Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa reported nothing more exciting than police beginning "a nightlong check-up for what they called undesirable elements." He added, however, that small-scale clashes were reported on Peiping's outskirts.

Another indication that the lull at Peiping was not only continuing, but expected to last for some time, was an announcement in Shanghai that commercial air service to that ancient capital would be resumed.

Officials Reported Packing

The Chinese National Aviation Corporation said its regular service of four trips weekly would be resumed with the planes landing at the new "Temple of Heaven" airfield inside the city. The Reds seized Peiping's south airfield about three weeks ago.

Meanwhile, government officials in Nanking were reported packing again for possible flight southward. They were convinced that the Communist answer to President Chiang's peace offer, made on his terms, would be an emphatic "no."

The Communist broadcast heard here seemed to be directed to Red armies in the Tientsin, Peiping area. It said:

"The peoples' liberation armies are more than 3,000,000 strong now. The aim is final victory and complete destruction of the Kuomintang reactionaries and expulsion of the forces of American aggression from China."

(The Communist radio heard at San Francisco broke its five-day silence on the peace overtures with two tough-talking broadcasts.

(One threatened to attack Historic Peiping at once unless it surrendered. The other said final victory was near and would mean "the complete destruction of the Kuomintang (government) reactionaries and the expulsion of the forces of American Imperialist aggression from China.")

"Delaying Action"

The broadcast from North China by the Communist New China News Agency, as heard by the newspaper Sin Wan Pao in Nanking, said President Chiang's New Year's Day peace-on-his-own terms speech was "delaying action."

The Chinese Communists, it added, "intend to maintain their original plan to fight to the finish."

(The later English language broadcast from North China quoted a Communist commentator for the agency as saying that in 1949 Red armies will cross the Yangtze into South China.

California Frost Loss $20,000,000

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5 (AP)—A killing frost, the worst in Southern California in 35 years, brought losses estimated today at $20,000,000.

The nation's pocketbooks quickly began to feel the chill as citrus prices started climbing.

One section alone, San Bernardino County, which accounts for about a fourth of California's citrus production, estimated an $8,000,000 loss. And County Farm Advisor Albert Salter, who said a third of the crop may be gone, added that growers had spent $2,250,000 in two nights of heating orchards with burning oil.

Citrus returns more than $100,000,000 to California growers each year.

In Imperial County, at least a million dollar loss was the estimate of the farm commissioner there, with the winter tomato and pea crops heavy losers. Much of the citrus and Imperial Valley vegetable crops go to eastern markets.

There, the California Fruit Grower's Exchange reported, oranges, lemons and grapefruit were up an average of 50 cents a box.

The exchange, which markets about 75 per cent of the California-Arizona citrus crop, said it had not withdrawn quotations on fruit enroute to eastern market, but the smaller American Fruit Growers, Inc., cancelled its quotations both on fruit en route and ready for shipment.

New Drive To Change Election System Opens

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP)—A new bipartisan drive to change the presidential election system was launched today by Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) and others.

Joining him in sponsoring the measure were Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), Fulbright (D-Ark.), Hoey (D-N.C.), Sparkman (D-Ala.), Stennis (D-Miss.), Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Neely (D-W.Va.), Smith (R-N.J.), Morse (R-Ore.), and Flanders (R-Vt.).

Planes Will Drop Food And Fuel To Towns Isolated By Heavy Snow

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. Jan 5. (AP)—The Red Cross today declared North Platte a disaster area as a devastating three-day blizzard blew itself out.

Local Red Cross Leader Don T. Swaim said food and fuel would be dropped by airplane to nearby towns where supplies were dwindling.

The development came in the wake of new stories of hardship, livestock losses and possible death.

At Alliance, Neb., search parties set out by tractor and plane to locate an Alliance businessman, Claude Hannibal, missing since Sunday night.

He left a snow-stalled truck to look for fence posts to be used in freeing the truck. A companion, Howard Smith, who stayed behind, was rescured 36 hours later by a cowboy from a nearby ranch. His hands and feet were frostbitten.

A cargo plane from Lowry Air Force Base dropped 75 cases of C-rations and 10 cases of canned milk at the Sioux Ordnance Depot near Sidney, where approximately 1,000 persons are isolated.

An Army spokesman at the depot said it was a precautionary rather than an emergency measure, although milk and some other items were in low supply.

Persons in the heart of the storm area, where the snowfall ranged up to 40 inches and drifts piled up 20 feet high, said outsiders would have trouble visualizing the completeness of the snow blockade.

TRUMAN GESTURES-- President Truman gestures with both hands as he makes his "state of the union" address to Congress. Sen. Kenneth McKellar, president pro tem of the Senate, sits behind him.

Israel Reported Ready To Accept Cease-Fire Order

Jews Penetrate Egypt, Withdraw

TEL AVIV, Israel, Jan. 5 (AP)—Israeli troops knifed 30 miles into Egypt and then withdrew, a government spokesman said tonight. At the same time a private source reported the Jews had accepted the United Nations Security Council's cease-fire order.

The private informant, who has been usually reliable, predicted fighting between Jews and Egyptians in the Negev Desert of Southern Palestine will end soon. It was understood Israel's acceptance of the cease-fire will be sent to the Security Council tomorrow.

An Israeli Foreign Office spokesman who refused to be quoted by name said Jewish troops, which entered Egypt in a three-day battle, had withdrawn according to plan after killing or wounding several hundred Egyptians and taking several hundred more prisoner.

Egyptian Material Seized

He said the Israeli force had reached El Arish, a strong Egyptian military base including airfields and other installations about 90 miles from the Suez Canal. The spokesman said Egyptian material taken or destroyed included several bren gun carriers, artillery pieces, gasoline and oil stocks and other stores.

(In Cairo the Egyptian War Ministry said tonight Egyptian forces repulsed Israeli attacks last night and this morning on Egyptian positions near Rafa. The enemy suffered considerable losses in lives and armored cars, the ministry said.)

"There was never at any time any design on the part of Israel to occupy Egyptian territory," the Israeli spokesman declared. He said the penetration was made by troops "in hot pursuit of the fleeing enemy."

Peace Only Desire

He added that "Israel has no claims to the territory of other countries. It has but one desire—the cessation of hostilities and negotiations for a permanent peace."

The spokesman denounced what he called an "anti-Israel diplomatic campaign that the British government has been conducting in Washington." He repeated last night's charge by a government spokesman concerning "military preparations which the British government is known to be making in the Middle East."

Veteran School Bus Driver Dies, Record Intact

CITRONELLE, Ala., Jan. 5 (AP)—A. T. Prine was proud that for 20 years he had driven a Citronelle school bus without endangering the lives of his young passengers.

The 62-year old farmer suffered a heart attack during the Christmas holidays, but recovered. As a precaution, though, he asked his wife to ride with him when he resumed his daily bus trips.

Today as he drove along his rural route he felt the warning pains of another heart seizure. Carefully he stopped the bus and turned off the ignition.

Then, while the children aboard watched in startled horror, he collapsed in the arms of his wife and died.

U. S. Again Gives Notice It Condemns Dutch Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP)—The United States today gave further notice of its disapproval of Dutch military action in Indonesia by recalling its delegate to a mediation group set up by the United Nations Security Council.

The Security Council had ordered a halt in the Indonesian fighting 11 days ago, but the Dutch did not issue a general cease-fire order until today. Dutch troops have now completed their occupation of the principal Indonesian towns.

Announcing that Delegate H. Merle Cochra had been called home for "consultation," the State Department said:

"This move is occasioned by the recent action of the Netherlands government in Indonesia, which abruptly interrupted the efforts of the committee of good offices to find through peaceful negotiations a satisfactory settlement of the three-year dispute between the Netherlands government and the Indonesian republic."

Chief Executive's Program In Brief

$4,000,000,000 in new taxes, mainly on business.

Expand the Social Security program and raise the benefits.

Continue the government's power to control consumer credit, and enlarge its authority over bank credit.

Continue export controls, also priorities and allocation authority in the transportation field.

Authorize priorities and allocations for key materials in short supply.

Standby authority to control wages and certain prices, if necessary.

Authorize a study of facilities for producing materials now critically short, such as steel; authorize the government to construct production facilities itself if private business doesn't.

Rebuild and strengthen the Department of Labor.

Strengthen anti-trust laws.

Use farm price supports to achieve abundant agricultural production and parity of income for farmers.

Push rural electrification, and other matters of benefit to farmers.

Press the development of power, irrigation, navigation and flood control projects; authorize the St. Lawrence seaway.

Keep oil-rich tidelands for the government.

Pass housing legislation such as he frequently has recommended; build at least 1,000,000 low-rent housing units in next seven years.

Enact his civil rights program. (This includes anti-lynching and anti-poll tax measures, and a fair employment practice commission.)

Provide universal military training.

Restore reciprocal trade law "to full effectiveness"; extend it for three years.

Friday Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP)—President Truman will hold his weekly news conference at 10:30 a. m. (EST) Friday, the White House announced today. Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the President would meet the press Friday, instead of tomorrow, because of the pressure of work.

Backers Offer Bills To Carry Out Proposals

President Requests Tax Hike To Finance Vast Social Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP) — President Truman asked the Democratic 81st Congress today to increase taxes by $4,000,000,000 to help finance a vast social and economic program which he called a "fair deal."

While Republican critics cried "socialism," Truman supporters on Capitol Hill rushed to introduce bills to carry out the Truman demands for:

Broadened social security coverage and bigger benefits, pre-paid medical and health insurance; 1,000,000 public housing units in seven years, and aid to education.

But his request for increased taxes met a cool reception. Legislators said they wanted to study it carefully.

The $4,000,000,000 tax boost would be aimed chiefly at corporations. Some lawmakers estimated that, in addition to his, the President's program would involve $6,000,000,000 in levies for increased social security benefits, health insurance and the like.

Among other recommendations that highspotted the 3,500-word "state of the union" message the President delivered in person to Congress were:

Wage-Price Curbs Asked

Authority to impose sweeping economic controls, including curbs on some wages and prices, power to build steel plants and other factories if deemed necessary in view of shortages; repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law; universal military training; aid to farmers; and the full Truman program of civil rights laws.

A quarter hour after he finished talking, seven Democratic senators introduced a bill for a 40-year, $18,000,000,000 program of public housing, slum clearance, farm home construction and housing research.

Sen. Myers (D-Pa), Aiken (R-Vt.) and McMahon (D-Conn) quickly offered bills to increase the minimum wage from 40 cents an hour to 75, as urged by the President.

Sens. Wagner (D-NY), McGrath (D-RI) and Murray (D-Mont), and Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) sponsored bills for a broader social security program and prepaid medical insurance.

They said their measures would provide health insurance for about 85 per cent of the population, and extend social security coverage to some 25,000,000 additional persons, at the same time doubling the average benefits.

Labor Act Repealer On Tap

Bills were on tap, for introduction tomorrow or later, to repeal the Taft-Hartley law, and carry out other phases of the Truman program.

Southerners sat on their hands as the President called for the civil rights program which tore the party last year. And the whole message brought a mixed reaction in statements issued later.

Some legislators hailed it as a "liberal" document with a "splendid appeal to the American people." Some denounced it as "socialistic" and a blow against individual liberties.

Mr. Truman, who saw his program riddled by the last, Republican Congress, laid special emphasis on "cooperation" in promoting what he called a "dynamic economy."

And he departed from his prepared text to plead for teamwork by Congress. Recalling that when he succeeded Franklin D. Roosevelt, he had asked cooperation, he continued:

"Now we are taking a new start in the same situation. It's absolutely essential that your President have the complete cooperation of Congress to keep the peace in this world and to keep this country powerful."

Mr. Truman said an aim of the nation should be to create wealth "for the benefit of all."

Legislative Ball Starts Rolling On Labor Front

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP)—Administration leaders moved swiftly today to carry out President Truman's labor program centering around repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

Shortly after Mr. Truman made his state of the union report to Congress, Sen. Myers (D-Pa) started the legislative ball rolling on the labor front. He introduced a bill to raise the minimum wage from 40 cents to 75 cents an hour—as pedged by the administration and Democratic platform.

A major stroke however, was set for tomorrow. At that time Sen. Thomas (D-Utah), chairman of the Labor Committee, said he will offer a Taft-Hartley repeal measure.

Mr. Truman, who has been battling for such action, told Congress the 1947 labor law was unfair to working people because it "abridges their rights, curtails their constructive efforts, and hampers our system of free collective bargaining."

He then asked the lawmakers to replace it with the Wagner Act with "certain improvements."

Spokesmen for labor unions hailed the President's message as fulfillment of his campaign pledge and promised their cooperation in working with Congress on "constructive" amendments to the Wagner Act.

CIO President Philip Murray said Mr. Truman "has kept full faith with the people who elected him. x x x We are sure that both labor and management groups, meeting within the spirit and framework of the President's message, can reach substantial agreement, once the Wagner Act is restored, on any problems that may arise."

AFL President William Green said his union members will cooperate with the President's recommendations. Once the Wagner Act is restored, he said the AFL will "give sympathetic consideration" to amendments to strengthen collective bargaining and promote labor-management peace.

West Digging Out As Snowfall Ends

[By The Associated Press]

The big snow storm petered out yesterday and the tremendous task of digging out of the drifts began.

Some fresh snow fell in North Dakota and parts of South Dakota. Winds that ranged up to 48 miles an hour buffeted those states and piled up drifts in Western Nebraska and Northern Kansas.

Thousands still were marooned in the wake of the three-day heavy storm. The Red Cross and other sources estimated 10,500 travelers were stranded in parts of Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, Utah and Idaho.

At Rockport, Colo., 465 persons were stopped cold. More than 300 of them took shelter in a tavern.

Many persons in the snow belt suffered from exposure. But only two deaths were reported — one in Colorado and one in Wyoming.

The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad cancelled all passenger service west of Omaha until further notice.

One weather element favored the snow plow crews striving to reopen rail lines and highways. Temperatures were about normal — under freezing but above zero.

Killing frost clamped down on southern California for the second day in a row. Early estimates placed the loss to citrus growers at approximately $20,000,000.

Rain fell in the northeastern section of the United States and in Eastern and Central Ohio.

Sen. O'Conor Is Named To Commerce Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sen. O'Conor (D-Md) today was named to the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee which handles many matters of shipping interests.

Aides said O'Conor considers membership on this committee important for a state dependent in large measure on the Port of Baltimore.

Maryland's junior Senator was named also to his old committees — the Post Office and Civil Service Committee and the group on expenditures in executive departments.

Sen. Tydings (D-Md) was named chairman of Armed Services and was assigned also to the Foreign Relations Committee. He served last year on Appropriations as well as Armed Services.

Tydings also is one of five new Democratic members to be named by the Democratic Steering Committee to Foreign Relations.

Bowles Inaugurated

Southern Rivers Overflow Banks

ATLANTA, Jan. 5 (AP) — Heavy rains forced rivers in three southern states to jump their banks today, sending more than 1,000 persons scurrying to higher ground.

For the second time in less than two months, the South saw flood waters begin sweeping across lowlying areas, threatening life, land and property.

Mississippi, which escaped the late November flood, appeared to be catching the worst of the return engagement. Alabama and Tennessee also reported hundreds of evacues and North Georgia rivers were rising.

In the Aberdeen-Columbus, Miss., area, near the Alabama line, the Red Cross and National Guard helped 200 families retreat from the surging Tombigbee River. An estimated several hundred other families left their homes without aid.

Rail transportation was disrupted by high waters in Alabama. Main lines of the Frisco and Illinois Central Railroad were under water at Palos. Louisville and Nashville main line trains were delayed by floods near Trafford.

The Seaboard's Birmingham-to-New York luxury train, the Silver Comet, was stopped in Atlanta and a shuttle train to Birmingham was substituted.

Rain was expected to end tonight, but a predicted cold wave promised added misery to flood victims.

Foreign Stars Are Favored In Ski Jump

BELOIT, Wis., Jan. 5 (INS) — Scandinavian Olympic stars are expected to steal the limelight Sunday at the Beloit Ski club's 11th annual jumping contest.

Featured performers include Olympic champion Beter Hugstedt of Norway and Sweden's Wilhelm Hellman and Bengt Jadeholm.

he also expressed the belief that spending can be trimmed so that no tax increase will be needed.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.), of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said:

"It looks like he has left considerable room for the committees of Congress to work out details of the tax bill. x x x The country will not look very favorably on increased taxes until the people are convinced we are not wasting money."

Chairman George (D-Ga.), of the Senate Finance Committee, said: "I am withholding any comment on raising taxes in the amount of $4,000,000,000 or any other amount at this time." He added that he wants to see the budget first.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.): "We ought to have a tax increase to insure against deficit spending. Details of a tax increase will have to be studied to see where the money is coming from."

its embargo on arms shipments to Arab countries if Israeli patrol action on the Egyptian border continues.

The high British government informant said there was absolutely "no question" of Britain going to war with Israel, however, as some British newspapers suggested. The pro-Labor paper "People" last Sunday printed a story under the heading, "Britain is near war with Jews" and said British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks had bluntly warned the United States that this was so last week.

The informant said this was "dishonest propaganda."

theory that the fortunes of the nation should be in the hands of a privileged few," he said. "We have abandoned the 'trickle-down' concept of national prosperity."

Jammed galleries heard the message and the four major radio networks carried it to millions of listeners across the land.

Most of the things in the tremendous program he blocked out — covering almost every phase of social legislation — he had asked before in the lifetime of the Republican-controlled 80th Congress. Most had been rejected.

Touches On Foreign Policy

Touching on foreign policy, Mr. Truman said that in the European recovery program, the good neighbor policy and the United Nations, "we have begun to batter down those national walls which block the economic growth and the social advancement of the peoples of the world."

Beaming approval at the decisive though not entirely docile Democratic majority in the new Congress, Mr. Truman said cheerfully:

"In the months ahead I know that I shall be able to co-operate with this Congress."

But he cracked a figurative muleskinner's whip around the ears of those who might balk at his program — Republicans and some Democrats — as he admonished them sternly:

"This is the task before us. It is not an easy one. It has many complications, and there will be strong opposition from selfish interests."

While declaring that conditions generally are "good," the President said there are "danger spots" and "we still have a long way to go."

"As we look around the country, many of our shortcomings stand out in bold relief," he said.

Asks Minimum Pay Boost

"We are suffering from excessively high prices. Our production is still not large enough to satisfy our demands. Our minimum wages are far too low. (He asked that they be increased from 40 cents to 75.) Small business is losing ground to growing monopoly.

"Our farmers still face an uncertain future. And too many of them lack the benefits of our modern civilization.

"Our first great opportunity is to protect our economy against the evils of 'boom and bust.'"

To carry on our prosperity, Mr. Truman said, the government must have the help of business in a teamwork job to achieve more employment and more production.

"So far as business is concerned, it should plan for steady, vigorous expansion — seeking always to increase its output, lower its prices, and avoid the vices of monopoly and restriction.

"So long as business does this, it will be contributing to continued prosperity, and it will have the help and encouragement of government."

In asking powers to combat inflationary pressures at "a number of critical points," Mr. Truman specifically requested:

Standby authority "to impose price ceilings for scarce commodities" affecting the cost of living "and to limit unjustified wage adjustments which would force a break in the established price ceiling."

Registered For Draft

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 5. (AP)—A total of 131,741 Marylanders aged 18 through 25 registered for the peacetime draft in 1948, a report to Gov. Lane showed today.

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state draft director, said that 387 were inducted during November and December, the first two months of the new law's application.

To produce that number of inductees, Col. Stanwood reported, 1,093 men were sent to Army examining stations.

"It must be realized that the large majority of the men submitted for physical and mental examinations to date (being non-veterans) had been unable to pass physical and mental examinations in the period 1940-1947," he said.

HERE'S one army you'll be tickled to death to sign up with—and for a good, long hitch at that.

It's the growing band of happy folks who are stepping out in tidy new 1949 Buicks—and they've got plenty to sound off about.

Mobility for instance. All the life and zing of big Fireball power plants, cradled to velvet smoothness on Hi-Poised engine mountings.

Silk-smooth operation on city street or open highway through the near-magic of Dynaflow Drive,† available now on the Buick SUPER as well as the ROADMASTER.

And what a wonderful outlook you find here! Through broad, high, full-curving windshields that really let you see.

Through deep, airy side windows that send the whole countryside passing in review—through wide, one-piece rear windows that make parking and backing much easier.

Statistically, the fact is that 4-door Sedans have 22% more glass area than before. Practically, the thing to do is sit in one of these beauties—and note how beautifully you can see the world.

Note, while you're at it, the figures on your dealer's price tags. Even they are part of a mighty happy picture that makes it advisable to get your order in without delay.

West Digging Out As Snowfall Ends

[By The Associated Press]

The big snow storm petered out yesterday and the tremendous task of digging out of the drifts began.

Some fresh snow fell in North Dakota and parts of South Dakota. Winds that ranged up to 48 miles an hour buffeted those states and piled up drifts in Western Nebraska and Northern Kansas.

Thousands still were marooned in the wake of the three-day heavy storm. The Red Cross and other sources estimated 10,500 travelers were stranded in parts of Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, Utah and Idaho.

At Rockport, Colo., 465 persons were stopped cold. More than 300 of them took shelter in a tavern.

Many persons in the snow belt suffered from exposure. But only two deaths were reported — one in Colorado and one in Wyoming.

The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad cancelled all passenger service west of Omaha until further notice.

One weather element favored the snow plow crews striving to reopen rail lines and highways. Temperatures were about normal — under freezing but above zero.

Killing frost clamped down on southern California for the second day in a row. Early estimates placed the loss to citrus growers at approximately $20,000,000.

Rain fell in the northeastern section of the United States and in Eastern and Central Ohio.

Sen. O'Conor Is Named To Commerce Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sen. O'Conor (D-Md) today was named to the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee which handles many matters of shipping interests.

Aides said O'Conor considers membership on this committee important for a state dependent in large measure on the Port of Baltimore.

Maryland's junior Senator was named also to his old committees — the Post Office and Civil Service Committee and the group on expenditures in executive departments.

Sen. Tydings (D-Md) was named chairman of Armed Services and was assigned also to the Foreign Relations Committee. He served last year on Appropriations as well as Armed Services.

Tydings also is one of five new Democratic members to be named by the Democratic Steering Committee to Foreign Relations.

Teeths For Third Time

ORANGE, Tex., Jan. 5. (AP)—At 84, Thomas (Pop) Hayes, Orange cafe worker, is teething for the third time.

With five new grinders in and 27 to go, Hayes is leading what he terms a "satisfying but annoying existence."

Bowles Inaugurated

Southern Rivers Overflow Banks

ATLANTA, Jan. 5 (AP) — Heavy rains forced rivers in three southern states to jump their banks today, sending more than 1,000 persons scurrying to higher ground.

For the second time in less than two months, the South saw flood waters begin sweeping across lowlying areas, threatening life, land and property.

Mississippi, which escaped the late November flood, appeared to be catching the worst of the return engagement. Alabama and Tennessee also reported hundreds of evacues and North Georgia rivers were rising.

In the Aberdeen-Columbus, Miss., area, near the Alabama line, the Red Cross and National Guard helped 200 families retreat from the surging Tombigbee River. An estimated several hundred other families left their homes without aid.

Rail transportation was disrupted by high waters in Alabama. Main lines of the Frisco and Illinois Central Railroad were under water at Palos. Louisville and Nashville main line trains were delayed by floods near Trafford.

The Seaboard's Birmingham-to-New York luxury train, the Silver Comet, was stopped in Atlanta and a shuttle train to Birmingham was substituted.

Rain was expected to end tonight, but a predicted cold wave promised added misery to flood victims.

Foreign Stars Are Favored In Ski Jump

BELOIT, Wis., Jan. 5 (INS) — Scandinavian Olympic stars are expected to steal the limelight Sunday at the Beloit Ski club's 11th annual jumping contest.

Featured performers include Olympic champion Beter Hugstedt of Norway and Sweden's Wilhelm Hellman and Bengt Jadeholm.

Backers Offer

theory that the fortunes of the nation should be in the hands of a privileged few," he said. "We have abandoned the 'trickle-down' concept of national prosperity."

Jammed galleries heard the message and the four major radio networks carried it to millions of listeners across the land.

Most of the things in the tremendous program he blocked out — covering almost every phase of social legislation — he had asked before in the lifetime of the Republican-controlled 80th Congress. Most had been rejected.

Touches On Foreign Policy

Touching on foreign policy, Mr. Truman said that in the European recovery program, the good neighbor policy and the United Nations, "we have begun to batter down those national walls which block the economic growth and the social advancement of the peoples of the world."

Beaming approval at the decisive though not entirely docile Democratic majority in the new Congress, Mr. Truman said cheerfully:

"In the months ahead I know that I shall be able to co-operate with this Congress."

But he cracked a figurative muleskinner's whip around the ears of those who might balk at his program — Republicans and some Democrats — as he admonished them sternly:

"This is the task before us. It is not an easy one. It has many complications, and there will be strong opposition from selfish interests."

While declaring that conditions generally are "good," the President said there are "danger spots" and "we still have a long way to go."

"As we look around the country, many of our shortcomings stand out in bold relief," he said.

Asks Minimum Pay Boost

"We are suffering from excessively high prices. Our production is still not large enough to satisfy our demands. Our minimum wages are far too low. (He asked that they be increased from 40 cents to .) Small business is losing ground to growing monopoly.

"Our farmers still face an uncertain future. And too many of them lack the benefits of our modern civilization.

"Our first great opportunity is to protect our economy against the evils of 'boom and bust.'"

To carry on our prosperity, Mr. Truman said, the government must have the help of business in a teamwork job to achieve more employment and more production.

"So far as business is concerned, it should plan for steady, vigorous expansion — seeking always to increase its output, lower its prices, and avoid the vices of monopoly and restriction.

"So long as business does this, it will be contributing to continued prosperity, and it will have the help and encouragement of government."

In asking powers to combat inflationary pressures at "a number of critical points," Mr. Truman specifically requested:

Standby authority "to impose price ceilings for scarce commodities" affecting the cost of living "and to limit unjustified wage adjustments which would force a break in the established price ceiling."

Registered For Draft

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 5. (AP)—A total of 131,741 Marylanders aged 18 through 25 registered for the peacetime draft in 1948, a report to Gov. Lane showed today.

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state draft director, said that 387 were inducted during November and December, the first two months of the new law's application.

To produce that number of inductees, Col. Stanwood reported, 1,093 men were sent to Army examining stations.

"It must be realized that the large majority of the men submitted for physical and mental examinations to date (being non-veterans) had been unable to pass physical and mental examinations in the period 1940-1947," he said.

Demos Pledge

he also expressed the belief that spending can be trimmed so that no tax increase will be needed.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.), of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said:

"It looks like he has left considerable room for the committees of Congress to work out details of the tax bill. x x x The country will not look very favorably on increased taxes until the people are convinced we are not wasting money."

Chairman George (D-Ga.), of the Senate Finance Committee, said: "I am withholding any comment on raising taxes in the amount of $4,000,000,000 or any other amount at this time." He added that he wants to see the budget first.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.): "We ought to have a tax increase to insure against deficit spending. Details of a tax increase will have to be studied to see where the money is coming from."

Israel Reported

its embargo on arms shipments to Arab countries if Israeli patrol action on the Egyptian border continues.

The high British government informant said there was absolutely "no question" of Britain going to war with Israel, however, as some British newspapers suggested. The pro-Labor paper "People" last Sunday printed a story under the heading, "Britain is near war with Jews" and said British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks had bluntly warned the United States that this was so last week.

The informant said this was "dishonest propaganda."

Chinese Reds

(The commentator said a "political consultative conference" will then meet "without the participation of reactionary elements" and organize a central government.

(He boasted that Communist armies were 3,000,000 strong, about double the size of government forces. Chiang "and the American imperialist force of aggression in China are in desperate need of a breathing spell," he asserted.)

It is estimated that only one out of three persons suffering from rheumatism in the United States receives treatment by a physician.

Solendid Recognition Comes To Fred T. Small

The announcement that Fred T. Small, manager of the Cumberland plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, is soon to leave here to assume a greater role in New York with this constantly growing industry, has been received with a feeling of deep regret by the people of this community. At the same time, they take profound pride in the splendid recognition which has come to such an outstanding citizen.

Mr. Small has been an integral part of Cumberland for a quarter of a century. He has taken a keen interest in undertakings advanced for the welfare of the city and Allegany county in general. He has given liberally of his time and engineering knowledge in helping to shape extensive programs of improvements, and has played a major role in assisting in the advancement of such projects as flood control for Cumberland and the Savage River Dam. He did all this as a citizen of a community he had come to cherish as his home.

Coming here when the Amcelle plant was in its infancy, Mr. Small has seen it grow steadily bigger and bigger over the years. As an assistant engineer, and later as chief engineer, he played an important part in its growth and development. It was in recognition of his achievements and executive talents that he was elevated to the position of plant manager eight years ago. During the period since then the plant has seemed to make its greatest strides. Today, it is one of the largest of the corporation's holdings, as well as its most modern, and holds a position high up in the listings of outstanding industries in the East.

Mr. Small's initiativeness, his driving power and his ingenuity have been a constant stimulant to those associated with him in the conduct of the plant to strive for greater things. Probably one of the outstanding accomplishments of his administration has been the tightening of good relations between labor and management, with the result that he is held in highest esteem by those making up the working personnel in all departments of the organization.

The decision to accept the promotion which has come to him was not an easy one to reach. He had hoped, there can be little doubt, that Cumberland would continue to be his home for years to come. Leaving here will mean giving up many things, especially the wide circle of friends he has won to himself and he to them. The people of Cumberland are just as reluctant to give him up as he is to go. However, his duties will, it is to be hoped, permit him returning often to renew and keep fresh the ties he and Mrs. Small must relinquish for periods of time.

Cumberland's loss of such a charming family will be another city's gain.

What's In Store For Us After Mixed, Confusing '48

The great human custom of surveying the departed year—while always hoping for better in the new one—was more difficult than usual as 1948 slipped away. The past twelve month was a mixed and confused time. There were plenty of surprises, as always, the most notable at home being, of course, the election of Harry Truman; the most significant abroad, the resistance of our late enemies, the Germans and Italians, to Soviet domination from without and industrial sappers within. But there had been much bewilderment and discouragement as well.

In the field of foreign policy, the United States tried the never-yet-achieved stunt of walking in two directions at the same time. The Marshall Plan is statesmanship at its most enlightened. And our resistance to Russo-Communism at Berlin has been a modern epic of skill and courage. But in East Asia our official policy has been one of paralytic futility. The year-end afforded a perfect example of the inconsistency; vigorous American opposition to a UN truce violation by the Dutch in Indonesia, followed by a bland disregard of a truce violation by the Israeli in Palestine.

Looking at '49, now in its sixth day, the immediate prospect is for a somewhat hectic session of Congress, with Republicans and Democrats alike quarreling among themselves, in advance of the larger struggle between organized minorities and the great, silent majority. All these political conflicts may soon be overshadowed by a predicted economic recession.

But there is solid encouragement, too, for this New Year. There is the advancing recovery in Europe's farms and factories, and partly on this ground, the universal prediction of men in the best position to know that a shooting war is not in the offing. The threat of that modern curse, the atomic bomb, still hangs over mankind. Yet there is encouragement in the fact that the dread of it is still sharp and universal.

Whatever 1949 may or may not bring, few members of the human race are likely to die of boredom.

Hard Task At Bonn

Far from finished is the task of the 65 German leaders who met at Bonn on September 1 to write a constitution for western Germany. After four months they have gone only far enough so that it is possible to get some idea of what the future state will be like.

That is not much progress. But, considering the circumstances, it is remarkable that this much has been accomplished. The convention is working under tremendous handicaps.

The Germans know, of course, that they cannot please the Russians no matter what sort of document they fashion. But they are constantly reminded that the Russians occupy eastern Germany, they are aware of the tense situation in Berlin, and they cannot help thinking what their fate might be if the Soviet should turn the cold war into a hot one.

Then, too, there is always the possibility that the cold war will be ended with a compromise, that the four major powers will get together on the German problem, and that their work will be in vain. If they assume that will not happen, they must still turn out a constitution that will be approved by Britain, France and the United States—nations that do not see eye to eye on all questions—and yet not offend the German people.

The assignment is difficult almost beyond comprehension. It is far harder than that which faced the American Constitutional Convention in 1787. The American states at least were free and capable of uniting under a stronger government if they wished. Even so, the delegates who began work at Philadelphia on May 25 did not adjourn until September 17.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

(Copyright: 1949: By The Chicago Tribune)

During the last few years there have been several reports in the medical literature dealing with an unusual chest disease that developed under peculiar circumstances. In one instance, it attacked 31 soldiers who spent several hours in an abandoned storm cellar on a military reservation in Oklahoma. The malady struck again when 21 persons, who were engaged in a treasure hunt in an old chalk mine in southwestern Arkansas, became afflicted. The condition has been dubbed "cave disease," a name that probably will stick until more data are obtained.

Dr. Van Dellen

Most of the sufferers exhibited an atypical form of pneumonia, along with symptoms resembling the flu. It is natural to assume that any one might come down with pneumonia after staying in a cave but it is difficult to explain how so many became affected at the same time. This is the unique feature of the malady; furthermore, the places were not damp and dusty and the victims were dressed for the occasion.

The illness usually began a week or two after the adventure and, at first, symptoms resembled a mild coryza. The throat felt dry and the head "stuffy"; fatigue, muscular aching, slight cough, and headache added to the distress. The next day the majority encountered chills followed by high fever and constricting pains in the chest. Medicine, including the wonder drugs, was of little value and as a result, the physicians were powerless to stop the progress of the disease.

Sweating was profuse and many were bothered by persistent cough. Headache was troublesome and varied from dull aching in the region of the frontal sinuses to severe, throbbing, sharp pain involving the entire head. The temperature fever fluctuated and did not follow a definite pattern; in some cases, fever lasted for weeks. The longer the disorder persisted, the more exhausted the victims became; they felt relatively well while resting but tired quickly when up and about. many lost weight due to poor appetite and the drain of the illness on the body's energy. All recovered ultimately.

The majority of patients showed characteristic changes in the chest X-rays, that set the malady apart from mothers. There appeared to be innumerable small patches of pneumonia scattered throughout the lung field. It was this observation, along with the fact that the ailment did not conform to any other, which made the medical men believe that they were dealing with a new disease. The sufferers were studied from head to foot and all known tests were performed. Among the possibilities considered were tuberculosis, influenza, and malaria as well as such rare maladies as coccidiomycosis, histoplasmosis, and Q, parrot, and dengue fevers.

As in the Bikini experiment, guinea pigs were placed in the chalk mine and storm cellar and removed at a later date for examination. No abnormality could be detected. Experiments were also made to eliminate the chance that a poisonous gas had been inhaled, the air in the cave was analyzed for irritating dusts, and the rocks along the walls studied for silica and other chemicals. The results were negative and offered no clews. Time will tell whether this is a new disease. The episodes recall the illnesses which befell the archeologists of a quarter of a century ago who discovered the tomb of Tutankhamen, the ancient Egyptian emperor.

SKIN AFFLICTION

Mrs. M. writes: I am in the menopause and have just developed acne rosacea. Are these two conditions related?

Reply

This is questionable because many other factors play a causative role in acne rosacea. These include intestinal disorders, exposure to wind, and the overconsumption of meats, sweets, and alcohol. On the other hand, the lesions are more pronounced at the menstrual period demonstrating an association between the condition and the glandular system.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Hand me down by spats, monocle and walking stick . . . I'm a new man.

Emily Post, the empress of culture in America, has announced angrily the thing wrong with society today is that not enough men dress for dinner.

Crosby heard about it last week. He's still standing there . . . grinning from polo shirt to polo shirt.

I can see a guy going into Joe's beanery wearing a homburg, cutaway, striped pants and a gardenia in his lapel, saying, "give me a hamboiger wit da woiks."

It would be very difficult for my brother to change for dinner. Where he is, they all wear the same thing.

I tried dressing for dinner yesterday, but it confused everybody. My little boy, Tony, looked up at me and said, "Where's daddy?"

But if all American men dressed for breakfast, I don't think it would make much difference. The wives wouldn't be able to see it behind the newspapers.

MY BAGS!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan 5—One of the most highlighted witnesses ever to appear before the un-American Activities Committee was glamorous Robert Taylor, star of "Escape," "Stand By For Action," "A Yank At Oxford," "Bataan," "Billy The Kid" and many other pictures. His testimony made front-page news across the country.

What never was published, however, is that witness Taylor also wrote the un-American Committee a scorching private letter blasting its tactics and accusing it of merely being interested in publicity. Taylor's letter is something Congress may want to consider in relation to the Committee's procedure in the future.

Taylor was asked to testify regarding the picture "Song of Russia" in which he acted. His testimony, taken in private, was later published, following which Taylor wrote this blistering letter:

"I've never cared a whole helluva lot for politicians, whether they be Republican or Democrat. And I've certainly never believed it inherent in my job as a motion-picture actor to aid in feathering any of their nests for them via publicity from my name—a name, by the way, which I have worked hard to build and maintain without any blemish.

"My last appearance to testify was valuable only insofar as publicity was concerned; my appearance in Washington can be valuable purely for the same reason. I firmly believe this to be utterly ridiculous and a waste of time, both for me and for the Committee!

"These investigations, the way they are being run in Washington at the moment, remind me more of a three-ring circus than of a sincere effort to rid the country of a real threat.

"There's nothing any of us are going to tell them in Washington that the FBI didn't know five years ago. Maybe it's easier to call twenty friendly names from Hollywood than to have a look at the FBI files! Maybe it's better publicity for the home-state electorate too!"

White House Callers

President Truman has been running true to form when it comes to White House visitors. He hasn't changed a bit since election. If members of the Turkey Growers Association are in town, or a big distiller or a youngster who has received a prize in school, they get in to see the President—if they ask for an appointment. But important leaders don't see the President—because they don't ask.

In other words, the people Truman sees are largely a hit-and-miss matter depending on his secretaries and his Military Aide. The President himself rarely reaches out and seeks the advice of people who are experts or those who have advice worth listening to.

For instance, on the list of White House callers recently were Louis Rosentiel, head of Schenley's Distillers, and Frank Verbest, brewer of Blatz beer. Both men had bet wrong on the election, and wanted a chance to make their peace with the little man who won.

Rosenstiel was so sure Dewey would win that he retained Herbert Brownell, Dewey's campaign manager, as his attorney and invited Dewey for "a yachting cruise after his victory." But having been wrong, Rosensteil contributed to the Democrats and asked for a chance to go in to see Truman.

Truman saw him.

On the other hand, ex-Secretary of The Interior Ickes took off his coat during the campaign, traveled out to Montana at his own expense, made powerful speeches which swung liberal votes to Truman. He showed this loyalty even though he thought Truman would probably lose.

In return, two months after election, Mr. Truman, until this week, did not even invite Mr. Ickes to the White House to thank him for his help.

Unlike Mr. Rosenstiel, Mr. Verbest and the Turkey Growers Association, Mr. Ickes didn't call up and demand to be let in.

Another Tennessean Feud

The White House is caught in a rip-roaring feud between the two Tennessee Senators — oldster Kenneth "Slugger" McKellar and freshman Estes Kefauver.

So far McKellar hasn't taken one of his famous pokes at the junior Senator from Tennessee. But before Kefauver so much as took office, McKellar opened up with a verbal volley. The Senate dean suspected that Kefauver would want to appoint several Tennesseans to Federal jobs, so he fired a blistering, six-page letter at him.

"Several Tennessee newspaper people have told me," blasted McKellar, "that you are very anxious to cooperate with me . . . and the intimation was that I had refused to cooperate with you. I wonder what your idea of cooperation is? Is it that you want to do all the 'operating' and leave the 'co' to me?"

Anxious to get along, Kefauver called on the irate McKellar and tried to pacify him. But the peace mission backfired, and McKellar broke loose with a new charge—that Kefauver hadn't done anything to help re-elect President Truman. Kefauver chided McKellar for this, pointed out that, on the contrary, he had campaigned for Truman ever since his opening speech.

McKellar Appeals to Truman

The senior Tennessean, unpacified, then carried the feud to the White House. Writing a letter to Truman he completely twisted Kefauver's remarks.

"I am informed," McKellar wrote the President, "that Mr. Kefauver is claiming to have helped you in Tennessee. This claim is without the slightest foundation. The papers which supported him, with one exception, were against you . . . and since the election he has admitted to me personally that he had not mentioned your name except in his opening speech, and in the newspaper account of that first speech, he merely said he was going to vote for you as the lesser of two evils.

"I am informed he is now circulating the report that the White House has given orders to look only to his recommendatoins in making Tennessee appointments. I do not believe this and I think he is attempting to perpetrate a wrong on the various executive departments."

Learning of McKellar's letter, the younger Tennessean sent a letter of his own to the White House, briefly citing the record of his own speeches for Truman.

The President apparently sided with Kefauver for he sent back an understanding letter saying he had been in politics too long not to appreciate the true situatoin in Tennessee.

Note 1—Actually McKellar did little more for Truman than to announce at the last minute that he would vote the straight Democratic ticket. When the votes were analyzed most of the Dixiecrat strength came from McKellar's stronghold in Western Tennessee.

Changing Of House Rules Will Not Eliminate Political Twist

By MARK SULLIVAN

What the House did on the opening day of Congress, dominating the news almost sensationally, was to take from the Committee on Rules the power of saying what bills shall go before the House as a whole for action. To this step taken on Monday add a single statistic, not generally seen as relevant. On the same opening day, within the space of a few hours, there were introduced in the House more than 500 bills. Before the session ends, the number will have run into many thousands.

With this statistic we have a basis for understanding what the House did last Monday. Not all those thousands of bills can be considered by the House as a whole, hardly even one in a hundred. There must be a mechanism for sieving them, and an authority for saying which shall go before the House for action.

An immense preliminary sieving is accomplished by a routine long in use and not questioned. All the bills are sent to the appropriate committees, some to the Committee on Agriculture, some to the Ways and Means Committee, and what-not. These Committees discard most of the bills, occasionally combine two or more into one, and finally arrive at a small number of bills which they consider should go before the House as a whole for action.

Discretion Held Necessary

But the total number of bills thus considered to call for action by the House as a whole, is still large, larger than the House can have time to debate and vote on. Here arises the necessity for an authority, to say what bills shall go on the floor of the House. It is this authority that the Committee on Rules has had. The Committee has exercised discretion, necessarily and legitimately. If only as a matter of time, especially toward the end of a term of Congress, there must be discretion as to what bills shall be given the green light.

The manner in which the Committee on Rules has exercised its discretion, the use it has made of its authority, has given rise to complaint, some of its justified. On occasion, instead of formally voting to report a bill out to the House or not report it, the committee has merely done nothing, has, as it is expressed, "pigeon-holed" the bill. Complaint has been made that some decisions of the committee have been political or ideological; that it has substituted its own opinion about a bill, or the opinion of a majority within it, for whatever might be the decision of the House as a whole if the bill were permitted to come up for action.

What the House did this week was to take discretion and authority away from the Committee on Rules, and transfer it, in effect, to the Speaker of the House. Under the new system, after a bill has been before the Committee on Rules for 21 days without action, the chairman of the committee originally sponsoring the bill, Agriculture, or Ways and Means, or what-not, can move that the House take up the bill for action. To make such a motion, the committee chairman must be recognized by the Speaker, and the Speaker has discretion to recognize or not recognize. Doubtless the present Speaker, Mr. Rayburn, as an urbane man and a wise presiding officer, will be likely to confer in advance with the various chairman of important committees as to which shall be given recobnition or in what order of priority.

Cannon Had Similar Power

What the House has now done is a reversal of a step sensational at the time and important in history. During the Presidency of William H. Taft, Republican Speaker Joseph G. Cannon had the power Speaker Rayburn will now have. It was taken from him in a revolt by the Democratic minority aided by Republican "insurgents." The analogy is not complete, for Cannon had power additional to the one now in question. Besides, Cannon's temperament and sense of authority party justified the epithet "czar" that was used about him, while Mr. Rayburn has a different temperament.

But regardless of whether decisions, about what legislation shall be taken up, be made by Speaker Rayburn asa an individual, or in consultation with the chairmen of important House committees or other party leaders, remains a probability, almost an inevitable fact, that the decisions will in many cases, and in one degree or another, be political or ideological, as before. The broad over-all decision will be to what extent the House will act on the legislative program President Truman is about to send to Congress. As a matter of course there will be consultations with President Truman by Speaker Rayburn, as well as Senate Democratic leader Lucas and other party leaders. A factor in the decisions will be the extent to which Mr. Truman gives weight to advice from sources other than party leaders in Congress.

Human Rights In A Free Country Won Great Victory In U.S. Court

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5—Human rights in a free country won a great victory when the Supreme Court of the United States ruled this week that the right to work is guaranteed by the Constitution and that no man can be compelled, by either an employer or anybody else, to join a union as the price of getting or keeping a job.

To most people, unfamiliar with the monopolistic privileges sought by reactionary labor leaders, it will come as a big surprise that labor unions actually demand from employers contracts agreeing not to hire non-union men or to fire union workers who may wish to exercise their fundamental right to withdraw from a union at their will.

But so widespread has become the abuse of union monopoly practices that in some industries, like printing and shipping, the unions have maintained "closed shops" which not only have required workers to belong to the unions but have not permitted employers to hire anyone unless the unions furnished the employees to him for hiring.

Naturally the union bosses want to retain this monopoly, just as some reactionary management men want to retain a monopoly on production and fix prices if they can get away with it.

For decades past there have been strikes and economic pressures applied so as to compel employers to sign contracts agreeing to the "closed shop" or its counterpart, the "union shop." In both instances the workers must join the union in order to retain their jobs.

More Explicit Ruling By Court

But never until this week has the Supreme Court of the United States ruled explicitly on the principle of compulsory unionization of workers.

What the Court said this time was that the several states which had passed statutes or amendments to their respective constitutions guaranteeing the right to work were well within their rights in enacting such a provision. Justice Black, speaking for the Court, said that "precisely what these state laws do is to forbid employers acting alone or in concert with labor organizations deliberately to restrict employment to none but union members."

What the Court really decided was that the regulation of compulsory unionization was well within the right of a state and that it could ban closed shops or any other form of compulsory unionization or it could omit to legislate on such a subject.

But it is clear now that the Supreme Court has established as an important and vital section of the civil-rights code of America that a citizen cannot be denied his job by action of an employer or a union if the reason is solely related to membership or non-membership in a labor organization.

The same issues arise with respect to federal law. For certainly the states would not be vested with power to regulate such matters while the federal government was denied such power.

Congress dealt with the subject indirectly under the Wagner law when it said that contracts "voluntarily" entered into between management and labor would not be held to violate the law which had stipulated that membership in a labor union could not be held as a just cause for discrimination by management.

The constitutionality of this particular phrase of the law was never tested, though everybody knew that it was a transparent falsehood to say any closed-shop or union-shop contract entered into as a result of a strike or threat of a strike represented an act of complete volition on the part of management.

The Taft-Hartley Act specifically banned the closed shop, but its sponsors pussyfooted on the union-shop issue and contradicted themselves by giving legal sanction to situations in which a majority of the employees of a shop insisted that the rest must be unionized or fired.

The constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley provisions on the closed-shop issue have never been tested. But if Congress drops the section and restores the old Wagner Act without amending it and without guaranteeing the worker the right to join or not join a labor union—a right guaranteed him under the Taft-Hartley law—then it seems certain some day some worker will go all the way to the Supreme Court to ask that such a law be declared invalid as an interference with the right to work.

Labor Seen as Shortsighted

Labor-union leaders have been shortsighted in their fight for the closed shop and union shop. John L. Lewis, admittedly one of the ablest union strategists in labor history, declares he never needed any provision of law to protect the membership of his union and that he never demanded the closed shop or union shop until the Congress so worded the matter of allocating jurisdiction among bargaining units as, in effect, to make such a stipulation in a labor-management contract highly desirable as a safeguard against raids by rival unions.

Nor can labor leaders assail the Supreme Court, whose liberal membership was virtually unanimous in upholding the right of the states to ban closed shops and compulsory unionization.

Justice Black, with a significant comment, pointed out that to be consistent if the government refuses to allow an employer to discriminate against a union member either in hiring or in firing, so can the power of government be exerted to defend a worker who chooses to refrain from joining a union. It is a great step in the battle for civil rights in America.

These Days

The Question Of Hospitals

THE FIGURES on persons in hospitals for 1948 not yet being available, I shall in this article use 1947 figures. The following is pertinent data:

"A. Governmental
1. Federal hospitals	1,285,126
2. City, county, city-county, and state hospitals	2,919,218
Total governmental	4,204,344
B. Non-governmental
1. Non-profit	10,177,508
2. Proprietary hospitals	1,447,662
National total	15,829,514"

Obviously, the bulk of hospitalization is being carried by non-governmental institutions and in that category, the voluntary, non-profit institutions, dependent upon private charity, perform the greatest service.

The Hoover Commission report on federal hospitalization indicates extravagance and waste by federal hospitals, particularly those controlled by the armed forces. In a word, the best job is still being done by voluntary institutions.

The principal complaint against the voluntary hospital, as against the entire medical profession, is that while the poor get excellent free service and the rich can afford excellent private service, the middle group, particularly the white-collar, middle-class fixed-earners, have a hard time meeting doctor and hospital bills. This problem is being met by the various Blue Cross plans, to which about 32,000,000 Americans now belong and which can be increased tremendously without government intervention. A practical matter of providing in advance for inevitable expenditures, the time is bound to come when every provident American will carry this kind of insurance as he does fire insurance. And it is a self-respecting method with neither private nor governmental charity.

In the present mood for socialization, various arguments are offered for enormous governmental expenditures which ultimately must mean government control of the $6,000,000,000 hospital plant of the United States.

The dead hand of bureaucracy can destroy the wholesome flexibility of the voluntary hospitals which usually are controlled by a lay board familiar with local conditions and directed by a medical board of competent physicians and surgeons. The proof of the adequacy of our hospitals is that we have the largest plant in relationship to population and the best hospitals in all the world.

The criticism that areas in the United States lack hospital facilities is correct, but that can better be mended by private giving than by huge government outlays. And it needs to be done lest the bureaucrat's case be justified. No private charity can be more justified or bring better results. The figures show that a hospital bed has a cost of $4,199 and that general hospitals alone require 195,000 more beds than the 1,425,222 that were in use in 1947.

In a word, if private giving is to provide adequate hospitalization for the civilian population of the United States, plenty of money has to be contributed not only for plant but for upkeep as well.

In discussions on this and related subjects, the attitude of many, particularly younger, persons is that as we pay such high taxes and can save so little on our earnings, why not let the government do the entire job?

Of course, the answer is that socialization, while often starting in areas in which private effort is inadequate, expands to total socialization and the ultimate destruction of private life. The point at which socialization is the most dangerous is the very beginning.

The weakness of Oscar Ewing's position in advocating expanding government interest in this field is not that he wants more hospitals, more doctors, more adequate coverage; in all that he is right. However, instead of working within the framework of a system that has been remarkably successful and developing it further so that it achieves even better results, he seeks to imitate the British socialistic system, which is not working well in England, as recent admissions by British officials indicate. Oscar Ewing is like so many New Dealers: he sees every other country's grass greener than his own, even if what he really sees is only a tumbleweed desert.

Splendid Recognition Comes To Fred T. Small

The announcement that Fred T. Small, manager of the Cumberland plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, is soon to leave here to assume a greater role in New York with this constantly growing industry, has been received with a feeling of deep regret by the people of this community. At the same time, they take profound pride in the splendid recognition which has come to such an outstanding citizen.

Mr. Small has been an integral part of Cumberland for a quarter of a century. He has taken a keen interest in undertakings advanced for the welfare of the city and Allegany county in general. He has given liberally of his time and engineering knowledge in helping to shape extensive programs of improvements, and has played a major role in assisting in the advancement of such projects as flood control for Cumberland and the Savage River Dam. He did all this as a citizen of a community he had come to cherish as his home.

Coming here when the Amcelle plant was in its infancy, Mr. Small has seen it grow steadily bigger and bigger over the years. As an assistant engineer, and later as chief engineer, he played an important part in its growth and development. It was in recognition of his achievements and executive talents that he was elevated to the position of plant manager eight years ago. During the period since then the plant has seemed to make its greatest strides. Today, it is one of the largest of the corporation's holdings, as well as its most modern, and holds a position high up in the listings of outstanding industries in the East.

Mr. Small's initiativeness, his driving power and his ingenuity have been a constant stimulant to those associated with him in the conduct of the plant to strive for greater things. Probably one of the outstanding accomplishments of his administration has been the tightening of good relations between labor and management, with the result that he is held in highest esteem by those making up the working personnel in all departments of the organization.

The decision to accept the promotion which has come to him was not an easy one to reach. He had hoped, there can be little doubt, that Cumberland would continue to be his home for years to come. Leaving here will mean giving up many things, especially the wide circle of friends he has won to himself and he to them. The people of Cumberland are just as reluctant to give him up as he is to go. However, his duties will, it is to be hoped, permit him returning often to renew and keep fresh the ties he and Mrs. Small must relinquish for periods of time.

Cumberland's loss of such a charming family will be another city's gain.

What's In Store For Us After Mixed, Confusing '48

The great human custom of surveying the departed year—while always hoping for better in the new one—was more difficult than usual as 1948 slipped away. The past twelve month was a mixed and confused time. There were plenty of surprises, as always, the most notable at home being, of course, the election of Harry Truman; the most significant abroad, the resistance of our late enemies, the Germans and Italians, to Soviet domination from without and industrial sappers within. But there had been much bewilderment and discouragement as well.

In the field of foreign policy, the United States tried the never-yet-achieved stunt of walking in two directions at the same time. The Marshall Plan is statesmanship at its most enlightened. And our resistance to Russo-Communism at Berlin has been a modern epic of skill and courage. But in East Asia our official policy has been one of paralytic futility. The year-end afforded a perfect example of the inconsistency; vigorous American opposition to a UN truce violation by the Dutch in Indonesia, followed by a bland disregard of a truce violation by the Israeli in Palestine.

Looking at '49, now in its sixth day, the immediate prospect is for a somewhat hectic session of Congress, with Republicans and Democrats alike quarreling among themselves, in advance of the larger struggle between organized minorities and the great, silent majority. All these political conflicts may soon be overshadowed by a predicted economic recession.

But there is solid encouragement, too, for this New Year. There is the advancing recovery in Europe's farms and factories, and partly on this ground, the universal prediction of men in the best position to know that a shooting war is not in the offing. The threat of that modern curse, the atomic bomb, still hangs over mankind. Yet there is encouragement in the fact that the dread of it is still sharp and universal.

Whatever 1949 may or may not bring, few members of the human race are likely to die of boredom.

That is not much progress. But, considering the circumstances, it is remarkable that this much has been accomplished. The convention is working under tremendous handicaps.

The Germans know, of course, that they cannot please the Russians no matter what sort of document they fashion. But they are constantly reminded that the Russians occupy eastern Germany, they are aware of the tense situation in Berlin, and they cannot help thinking what their fate might be if the Soviet should turn the cold war into a hot one.

Then, too, there is always the possibility that the cold war will be ended with a compromise, that the four major powers will get together on the German problem, and that their work will be in vain. If they assume that will not happen, they must still turn out a constitution that will be approved by Britain, France and the United States—nations that do not see eye to eye on all questions—and yet not offend the German people.

The assignment is difficult almost beyond comprehension. It is far harder than that which faced the American Constitutional Convention in 1787. The American states at least were free and capable of uniting under a stronger government if they wished. Even so, the delegates who began work at Philadelphia on May 25 did not adjourn until September 17.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

(Copyright: 1949: By The Chicago Tribune)

During the last few years there have been several reports in the medical literature dealing with an unusual chest disease that developed under peculiar circumstances. In one instance, it attacked 31 soldiers who spent several hours in an abandoned storm cellar on a military reservation in Oklahoma. The malady struck again when 21 persons, who were engaged in a treasure hunt in an old chalk mine in southwestern Arkansas, became afflicted. The condition has been dubbed "cave disease," a name that probably will stick until more data are obtained.

Most of the sufferers exhibited an atypical form of pneumonia, along with symptoms resembling the flu. It is natural to assume that any one might come down with pneumonia after staying in a cave but it is difficult to explain how so many became affected at the same time. This is the unique feature of the malady; furthermore, the places were not damp and dusty and the victims were dressed for the occasion.

The illness usually began a week or two after the adventure and, at first, symptoms resembled a mild coryza. The throat felt dry and the head "stuffy"; fatigue, muscular aching, slight cough, and headache added to the distress. The next day the majority encountered chills followed by high fever and constricting pains in the chest. Medicine, including the wonder drugs, was of little value and as a result, the physicians were powerless to stop the progress of the disease.

Sweating was profuse and many were bothered by persistent cough. Headache was troublesome and varied from dull aching in the region of the frontal sinuses to severe, throbbing, sharp pain involving the entire head. The temperature fever fluctuated and did not follow a definite pattern; in some cases, fever lasted for weeks. The longer the disorder persisted, the more exhausted the victims became; they felt relatively well while resting but tired quickly when up and about. many lost weight due to poor appetite and the drain of the illness on the body's energy. All recovered ultimately.

The majority of patients showed characteristic changes in the chest X-rays, that set the malady apart from mothers. There appeared to be innumerable small patches of pneumonia scattered throughout the lung field. It was this observation, along with the fact that the ailment did not conform to any other, which made the medical men believe that they were dealing with a new disease. The sufferers were studied from head to foot and all known tests were performed. Among the possibilities considered were tuberculosis, influenza, and malaria as well as such rare maladies as coccidiomycosis, histoplasmosis, and Q. parrot, and dengue fevers.

As in the Bikini experiment, guinea pigs were placed in the chalk mine and storm cellar and removed at a later date for examination. No abnormality could be detected. Experiments were also made to eliminate the chance that a poisonous gas had been inhaled, the air in the cave was analyzed for irritating dusts, and the rocks along the walls studied for silica and other chemicals. The results were negative and offered no clews. Time will tell whether this is a new disease. The episodes recall the illnesses which befell the archeologists of a quarter of a century ago who discovered the tomb of Tutankhamen, the ancient Egyptian emperor.

SKIN AFFLICTION

Mrs. M. writes: I am in the menopause and have just developed acne rosacea. Are these two conditions related?

Reply

This is questionable because many other factors play a causative role in acne rosacea. These include intestinal disorders, exposure to wind, and the overconsumption of meats, sweets, and alcohol. On the other hand, the lesions are more pronounced at the menstrual period demonstrating an association between the condition and the glandular system.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Hand me down by spats, monocle and walking stick . . . I'm a new man.

Emily Post, the empress of culture in America, has announced angrily the thing wrong with society today is that not enough men dress for dinner.

Crosby heard about it last week. He's still standing there . . . grinning from polo shirt to polo shirt.

I can see a guy going into Joe's beanery wearing a homburg, cutaway, striped pants and a gardenia in his lapel, saying, "give me a hamboiger wit da woiks."

It would be very difficult for my brother to change for dinner. Where he is, they all wear the same thing.

I tried dressing for dinner yesterday, but it confused everybody. My little boy, Tony, looked up at me and said, "Where's daddy?"

But if all American men dressed for breakfast, I don't think it would make much difference. The wives wouldn't be able to see it behind the newspapers.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan 5—One of the most highlighted witnesses ever to appear before the un-American Activities Committee was glamorous Robert Taylor, star of "Escape," "Stand By For Action," "A Yank At Oxford," "Bataan," "Billy The Kid" and many other pictures. His testimony made front-page news across the country.

What never was published, however, is that witness Taylor also wrote the un-American Committee a scorching private letter blasting its tactics and accusing it of merely being interested in publicity. Taylor's letter is something Congress may want to consider in relation to the Committee's procedure in the future.

Taylor was asked to testify regarding the picture "Song of Russia" in which he acted. His testimony, taken in private, was later published, following which Taylor wrote this blistering letter:

"I've never cared a whole helluva lot for politicians, whether they be Republican or Democrat. And I've certainly never believed it inherent in my job as a motion-picture actor to aid in feathering any of their nests for them via publicity from my name—a name, by the way, which I have worked hard to build and maintain without any blemish.

"My last appearance to testify was valuable only insofar as publicity was concerned; my appearance in Washington can be valuable purely for the same reason. I firmly believe this to be utterly ridiculous and a waste of time, both for me and for the Committee!

"These investigations, the way they are being run in Washington at the moment, remind me more of a three-ring circus than of a sincere effort to rid the country of a real threat.

"There's nothing any of us are going to tell them in Washington that the FBI didn't know five years ago. Maybe it's easier to call twenty friendly names from Hollywood than to have a look at the FBI files! Maybe it's better publicity for the home-state electorate too!"

White House Callers

President Truman has been running true to form when it comes to White House visitors. He hasn't changed a bit since election. If members of the Turkey Growers Association are in town, or a big distiller or a youngster who has received a prize in school, they get in to see the President—if they ask for an appointment. But important leaders don't see the President—because they don't ask.

In other words, the people Truman sees are largely a hit-and-miss matter depending on his secretaries and his Military Aide. The President himself rarely reaches out and seeks the advice of people who are experts or those who have advice worth listening to.

For instance, on the list of White House callers recently were Louis Rosentiel, head of Schenley's Distillers, and Frank Verbest, brewer of Blatz beer. Both men had bet wrong on the election, and wanted a chance to make their peace with the little man who won.

Rosenstiel was so sure Dewey would win that he retained Herbert Brownell, Dewey's campaign manager, as his attorney and invited Dewey for "a yachting cruise after his victory." But having been wrong, Rosenstiel contributed to the Democrats and asked for a chance to go in to see Truman.

Truman saw him.

On the other hand, ex-Secretary of The Interior Ickes took off his coat during the campaign, traveled out to Montana at his own expense, made powerful speeches which swung liberal votes to Truman. He showed this loyalty even though he thought Truman would probably lose.

In return, two months after election, Mr. Truman, until this week, did not even invite Mr. Ickes to the White House to thank him for his help.

Unlike Mr. Rosenstiel, Mr. Verbest and the Turkey Growers Association, Mr. Ickes didn't call up and demand to be let in.

Another Tennessean Feud

The White House is caught in a rip-roaring feud between the two Tennessee Senators — oldster Kenneth "Slugger" McKellar and freshman Estes Kefauver.

So far McKellar hasn't taken one of his famous pokes at the junior Senator from Tennessee. But before Kefauver so much as took office, McKellar opened up with a verbal volley. The Senate dean suspected that Kefauver would want to appoint several Tennesseans to Federal jobs, so he fired a blistering, six-page letter at him.

"Several Tennessee newspaper people have told me," blasted McKellar, "that you are very anxious to cooperate with me . . . and the intimation was that I had refused to cooperate with you. I wonder what your idea of cooperation is? Is it that you want to do all the 'operating' and leave the 'co' to me?"

Anxious to get along, Kefauver called on the irate McKellar and tried to pacify him. But the peace mission backfired, and McKellar broke loose with a new charge—that Kefauver hadn't done anything to help re-elect President Truman. Kefauver chided McKellar for this, pointed out that, on the contrary, he had campaigned for Truman ever since his opening speech.

McKellar Appeals to Truman

The senior Tennessean, unpacified, then carried the feud to the White House. Writing a letter to Truman he completely twisted Kefauver's remarks.

"I am informed," McKellar wrote the President, "that Mr. Kefauver is claiming to have helped you in Tennessee. This claim is without the slightest foundation. The papers which supported him, with one exception, were against you . . . and since the election he has admitted to me personally that he had not mentioned your name except in his opening speech, and in the newspaper account of that first speech, he merely said he was going to vote for you as the lesser of two evils.

"I am informed he is now circulating the report that the White House has given orders to look only to his recommendatoins in making Tennessee appointments. I do not believe this and I think he is attempting to perpetrate a wrong on the various executive departments."

Learning of McKellar's letter, the younger Tennessean sent a letter of his own to the White House, briefly citing the record of his own speeches for Truman.

The President apparently sided with Kefauver for he sent back an understanding letter saying he had been in politics too long not to appreciate the true situatoin in Tennessee.

Note 1—Actually McKellar did little more for Truman than to announce at the last minute that he would vote the straight Democratic ticket. When the votes were analyzed most of the Dixiecrat strength came from McKellar's stronghold in Western Tennessee.

Changing Of House Rules Will Not Eliminate Political Twist

By MARK SULLIVAN

What the House did on the opening day of Congress, dominating the news almost sensationally, was to take from the Committee on Rules the power of saying what bills shall go before the House as a whole for action. To this step taken on Monday add a single statistic, not generally seen as relevant. On the same opening day, within the space of a few hours, there were introduced in the House more than 500 bills. Before the session ends, the number will have run into many thousands.

With this statistic we have a basis for understanding what the House did last Monday. Not all those thousands of bills can be considered by the House as a whole, hardly even one in a hundred. There must be a mechanism for sieving them, and an authority for saying which shall go before the House for action.

An immense preliminary sieving is accomplished by a routine long in use and not questioned. All the bills are sent to the appropriate committees, some to the Committee on Agriculture, some to the Ways and Means Committee, and what-not. These Committees discard most of the bills, occasionally combine two or more into one, and finally arrive at a small number of bills which they consider should go before the House as a whole for action.

Discretion Held Necessary

But the total number of bills thus considered to call for action by the House as a whole, is still large, larger than the House can have time to debate and vote on. Here arises the necessity for an authority, to say what bills shall go on the floor of the House. It is this authority that the Committee on Rules has had. The Committee has exercised discretion, necessarily and legitimately. If only as a matter of time, especially toward the end of a term of Congress, there must be discretion as to what bills shall be given the green light.

The manner in which the Committee on Rules has exercised its discretion, the use it has made of its authority, has given rise to complaint, some of its justified. On occasion, instead of formally voting to report a bill out to the House or not report it, the committee has merely done nothing, has, as it is expressed, "pigeon-holed" the bill. Complaint has been made that some decisions of the committee have been political or ideological; that it has substituted its own opinion about a bill, or the opinion of a majority within it, for whatever might be the decision of the House as a whole if the bill were permitted to come up for action.

What the House did this week was to take discretion and authority away from the Committee on Rules, and transfer it, in effect, to the Speaker of the House. Under the new system, after a bill has been before the Committee on Rules for 21 days without action, the chairman of the committee originally sponsoring the bill, Agriculture, or Ways and Means, or what-not, can move that the House take up the bill for action. To make such a motion, the committee chairman must be recognized by the Speaker, and the Speaker has discretion to recognize or not recognize. Doubtless the present Speaker, Mr. Rayburn, as an urbane man and a wise presiding officer, will be likely to confer in advance with the various chairman of important committees as to which shall be given recobnition or in what order of priority.

Cannon Had Similar Power

What the House has now done is a reversal of a step sensational at the time and important in history. During the Presidency of William H. Taft, Republican Speaker Joseph G. Cannon had the power Speaker Rayburn will now have. It was taken from him in a revolt by the Democratic minority aided by Republican "insurgents." The analogy is not complete, for Cannon had power additional to the one now in question. Besides, Cannon's temperament and sense of authority party justified the epithet "czar" that was used about him, while Mr. Rayburn has a different temperament.

But regardless of whether decisions, about what legislation shall be taken up, be made by Speaker Rayburn asa an individual, or in consultation with the chairmen of important House committees or other party leaders, remains a probability, almost an inevitable fact, that the decisions will in many cases, and in one degree or another, be political or ideological, as before. The broad over-all decision will be to what extent the House will act on the legislative program President Truman is about to send to Congress. As a matter of course there will be consultations with President Truman by Speaker Rayburn, as well as Senate Democratic leader Lucas and other party leaders. A factor in the decisions will be the extent to which Mr. Truman gives weight to advice from sources other than party leaders in Congress.

Human Rights In A Free Country Won Great Victory In U.S. Court

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5—Human rights in a free country won a great victory when the Supreme Court of the United States ruled this week that the right to work is guaranteed by the Constitution and that no man can be compelled, by either an employer or anybody else, to join a union as the price of getting or keeping a job.

To most people, unfamiliar with the monopolistic privileges sought by reactionary labor leaders, it will come as a big surprise that labor unions actually demand from employers contracts agreeing not to hire non-union men or to fire union workers who may wish to exercise their fundamental right to withdraw from a union at their will.

But so widespread has become the abuse of union monopoly practices that in some industries, like printing and shipping, the unions have maintained "closed shops" which not only have required workers to belong to the unions but have not permitted employers to hire anyone unless the unions furnished the employees to him for hiring.

Naturally the union bosses want to retain this monopoly, just as some reactionary management men want to retain a monopoly on production and fix prices if they can get away with it.

For decades past there have been strikes and economic pressures applied so as to compel employers to sign contracts agreeing to the "closed shop" or its counterpart, the "union shop." In both instances the workers must join the union in order to retain their jobs.

More Explicit Ruling By Court

But never until this week has the Supreme Court of the United States ruled explicitly on the principle of compulsory unionization of workers.

What the Court said this time was that the several states which had passed statutes or amendments to their respective constitutions guaranteeing the right to work were well within their rights in enacting such a provision. Justice Black, speaking for the Court, said that "precisely what these state laws do is to forbid employers acting alone or in concert with labor organizations deliberately to restrict employment to none but union members."

What the Court really decided was that the regulation of compulsory unionization was well within the right of a state and that it could ban closed shops or any other form of compulsory unionization or it could omit to legislate on such a subject.

But it is clear now that the Supreme Court has established as an important and vital section of the civil-rights code of America that a citizen cannot be denied his job by action of an employer or a union if the reason is solely related to membership or non-membership in a labor organization.

The same issues arise with respect to federal law. For certainly the states would not be vested with power to regulate such matters while the federal government was denied such power.

Congress dealt with the subject indirectly under the Wagner law when it said that contracts "voluntarily" entered into between management and labor would not be held to violate the law which had stipulated that membership in a labor union could not be held as a just cause for discrimination by management.

The constitutionality of this particular phrase of the law was never tested, though everybody knew that it was a transparent falsehood to say any closed-shop or union-shop contract entered into as a result of a strike or threat of a strike represented an act of complete volition on the part of management.

The Taft-Hartley Act specifically banned the closed shop, but its sponsors pussyfooted on the union-shop issue and contradicted themselves by giving legal sanction to situations in which a majority of the employees of a shop insisted that the rest must be unionized or fired.

The constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley provisions on the closed-shop issue have never been tested. But if Congress drops the section and restores the old Wagner Act without amending it and without guaranteeing the worker the right to join or not join a labor union—a right guaranteed him under the Taft-Hartley law—then it seems certain some day some worker will go all the way to the Supreme Court to ask that such a law be declared invalid as an interference with the right to work.

Labor Seen as Shortsighted

Labor-union leaders have been shortsighted in their fight for the closed shop and union shop. John L. Lewis, admittedly one of the ablest union strategists in labor history, declares he never needed any provision of law to protect the membership of his union and that he never demanded the closed shop or union shop until the Congress so worded the matter of allocating jurisdiction among bargaining units as, in effect, to make such a stipulation in a labor-management contract highly desirable as a safeguard against raids by rival unions.

Nor can labor leaders assail the Supreme Court, whose liberal membership was virtually unanimous in upholding the right of the states to ban closed shops and compulsory unionization.

Justice Black, with a significant comment, pointed out that to be consistent if the government refuses to allow an employer to discriminate against a union member either in hiring or in firing, so can the power of government be exerted to defend a worker who chooses to refrain from joining a union. It is a great step in the battle for civil rights in America.

The Question Of Hospitals

THE FIGURES on persons in hospitals for 1948 not yet being available, I shall in this article use 1947 figures. The following is pertinent data:

"A. Governmental
1. Federal hospitals	1,285,126
2. City, county, city-county, and state hospitals	2,919,218
Total governmental	4,204,344
B. Non-governmental
1. Non-profit	10,177,508
2. Proprietary hospitals	1,447,662
National total	15,829,514"

Obviously, the bulk of hospitalization is being carried by non-governmental institutions and in that category, the voluntary, non-profit institutions, dependent upon private charity, perform the greatest service.

The Hoover Commission report on federal hospitalization indicates extravagance and waste by federal hospitals, particularly those controlled by the armed forces. In a word, the best job is still being done by voluntary institutions.

The principal complaint against the voluntary hospital, as against the entire medical profession, is that while the poor get excellent free service and the rich can afford excellent private service, the middle group, particularly the white-collar, middle-class fixed-earners, have a hard time meeting doctor and hospital bills. This problem is being met by the various Blue Cross plans, to which about 32,000,000 Americans now belong and which can be increased tremendously without government intervention. A practical matter of providing in advance for inevitable expenditures, the time is bound to come when every provident American will carry this kind of insurance as he does fire insurance. And it is a self-respecting method with neither private nor governmental charity.

In the present mood for socialization, various arguments are offered for enormous governmental expenditures which ultimately must mean government control of the $6,000,000,000 hospital plant of the United States.

The dead hand of bureaucracy can destroy the wholesome flexibility of the voluntary hospitals which usually are controlled by a lay board familiar with local conditions and directed by a medical board of competent physicians and surgeons. The proof of the adequacy of our hospitals is that we have the largest plant in relationship to population and the best hospitals in all the world.

The criticism that areas in the United States lack hospital facilities is correct, but that can better be mended by private giving than by huge government outlays. And it needs to be done lest the bureaucrat's case be justified. No private charity can be more justified or bring better results. The figures show that a hospital bed has a cost of $4,199 and that general hospitals alone require 195,000 more beds than the 1,425,222 that were in use in 1947.

In a word, if private giving is to provide adequate hospitalization for the civilian population of the United States, plenty of money has to be contributed not only for plant but for upkeep as well.

In discussions on this and related subjects, the attitude of many, particularly younger, persons is that as we pay such high taxes and can save so little on our earnings, why not let the government do the entire job?

Of course, the answer is that socialization, while often starting in areas in which private effort is inadequate, expands to total socialization and the ultimate destruction of private life. The point at which socialization is the most dangerous is the very beginning.

The weakness of Oscar Ewing's position in advocating expanding government interest in this field is not that he wants more hospitals, more doctors, more adequate coverage; in all that he is right. However, instead of working within the framework of a system that has been remarkably successful and developing it further so that it achieves even better results, he seeks to imitate the British socialistic system, which is not working well in England, as recent admissions by British officials indicate. Oscar Ewing is like so many New Dealers: he sees every other country's grass greener than his own, even if what he really sees is only a tumbleweed desert.

Preserved in the cathedral at Ciudad Trujillo, formerly Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, is a rough hewn mahogany cross inscribed: "This is the first sign planted in the center of this field to mark the beginning of this magnificent temple in the year 1514." This inscription is the earliest record of the use of mahogany.

Outdoor Club Reelects Maphis

Included were Roy Maphis, president; P. Oswald Weber, first vice president; Lee R. Fuller, recording secretary; Van L. Johnson, financial secretary; Roy L. Durrett, treasurer; Howard Kuhns, house chairman. The second vice president will be named at the next meeting.

A varied program for the new year including development of the club's Tunnel Hill property was outlined. The property is on Route 51 near Paw Paw, W. Va. and contains 500 acres with six miles of waterfront. A hunting lodge is being erected and other buildings are planned. Weekend trips are planned and the trapshoots will continue.

Conservation including the restocking of streams and wooded areas was listed as the major club objective. Emphasis will be placed on shelter for wildlife.

The rifle team is being reorganized, and will be affiliated with the National Rifle Association, competing with other teams in this section.

Many members of the club plan to attend the third annual sportsman's and Outdoor Show, in Baltimore, March 19 through 27, as a feature of National Wildlife Restoration Week.

The club went on record to again enter a softball team in the Rocking Chair League, and planned several social events, winding up with a New Year's Eve dance at the end of this year. The Men's Bowling League will resume rolling at the Savoy Alleys on Thursday evening.

The club plans to hold its annual anniversary dinner with outstanding sportsmen and speakers attending.

Outdoor Club Reelects Maphis

Included were Roy Maphis, president; P. Oswald Weber, first vice president; Lee R. Fuller, recording secretary; Van L. Johnson, financial secretary; Roy L. Durrett, treasurer; Howard Kuhns, house chairman. The second vice president will be named at the next meeting.

A varied program for the new year including development of the club's Tunnel Hill property was outlined. The property is on Route 51 near Paw Paw, W. Va. and contains 500 acres with six miles of waterfront. A hunting lodge is being erected and other buildings are planned. Weekend trips are planned and the trapshoots will continue.

Conservation including the restocking of streams and wooded areas was listed as the major club objective. Emphasis will be placed on shelter for wildlife.

The rifle team is being reorganized, and will be affiliated with the National Rifle Association, competing with other teams in this section.

Many members of the club plan to attend the third annual sportsman's and Outdoor Show, in Baltimore, March 19 through 27, as a feature of National Wildlife Restoration Week.

The club went on record to again enter a softball team in the Rocking Chair League, and planned several social events, winding up with a New Year's Eve dance at the end of this year. The Men's Bowling League will resume rolling at the Savoy Alleys on Thursday evening.

The club plans to hold its annual anniversary dinner with outstanding sportsmen and speakers attending.

Drugless Health!
NO MATTER how long you have been suffering from stomach, kidney and rheumatic distress, and what drugs you have tried before, you can, now, hope for relief if you take GEO-MINERAL. With your eyes SEE the results seven days after you start taking it.
DRUGGISTS, Chemists cannot make GEO-MINERAL. It comes from the earth—Nature's laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

Wonder Minerals
FOR THOUSANDS of years sufferers, on advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to get cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there regularly twice a year.
WE HAVE all heard of the miraculous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece, where, according to legend Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.
IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results
WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.
GEO-MINERAL is not a physic, and does not interfere with the foods in the intestines. It gets down to the root, cleaning and purifying, throwing away poisons — gas, toxins and bloating. Not like physics, oils and cathartics do, but in a Natural, harmless, safe way.

100% Guaranteed!
WE URGE you to try GEO-MINERAL. Go to your drug store NOW and get one bottle. Use it seven days. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money in full.
TRY IT! It may be the remedy you NEED! . . . and making the best investment for your health. It may do wonders for you—make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

Colon Illustrations
THE COLON is one of the most important organs of our body. The following illustrations show the colon in various forms, as one's condition in health may be. You may ask: How is my colon?

THE IDEAL COLON. A person in perfect health possesses a colon like this — firm and regular, with well functioning muscle.

CONSTIPATION is the cause of this atonic abnormal condition of this colon. IMPORTANT: Keep colon free from poisonous waste matter.

SPASTIC CONSTIPATION—Pinching down of the descending colon. This condition often caused by over use of harsh cathartics, physics.

By NANCY MOTTRAM

Try Compromise In Arguments With Friends

You can get along beautifully with people who don't matter too much to you. The girls and guys and members of the older generation, who see you only once in a blue moon, aren't rated on the list of your closest friends, and you never have any disagreeable words with them.

Nancy Mottram

But it's the crowd you see most often that does count. The opinions, actions, and personal feelings of the fellows and gals as well as your parents and older friends, have a lot to do with your daily life. So, naturally, there will be arguments and occasional fights popping up on the general scene.

• — • — •

You resent it if other people try to tell you what to do, or make up your mind for you. And when the situation gets too tense, you'll have furious words with the ones you love. It's natural. You haven't an unlimited amount ow patience, and neither have they. But so many hard feelings and busted relationships could be saved, if you'd only think twice before you let go with cutting remarks.

You don't like the idea of being overruled. You want to be thought of as having judgment and common sense of your own. You want to drive home the idea that you have the ability to make your own decisions, and to do as you see fit. But you've got to realize that there are two sides to every question. And while you don't have to be on the losing end every time, or let everyone in your life walk all over you, don't take the attitude that bull-headedness and stubbornness are the best of traits. They won't get you where you want to go.

• — • — •

There are things you'll take very seriously and feel very deeply about, and that's where your trouble will begin. Sometimes your plans won't set very well with someone else, but an attitude of "take it or leave it" won't get you far. Hard as it may be, try to put yourself in the other fellow's place and understand his point of view. Then, with compromise, you can wind up without a broken friendship, and still be able to follow through pretty well with what you intended to carry out. Don't waste your time on sarcastic comments. Instead, use your brain power to come to an answer that will suit all involved, and your time will be much more happily spent.

Miss Mottram cannot answer all letters personally but the most important ones will be answered in her column.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

There is a fine monument in Provincetown to mar the spot where the Pilgrims first landed on November 11, 1620. (The Mayflower didn't reach Plymouth Rock until much later.) When Will Rogers visited Provincetown, however, he gave the Pilgrims scant credit for their achievement.

"They tell me here," said Rogers, "that the Pilgrims found corn buried in Provincetown, and that this saved them from starving to death. Then they shot the Indians. That was because they hadn't stored more corn. Next they prayed. The Pilgrims did a powerful lot of praying, but you never saw a picture of a Pilgrim who didn't have a gun beside him. That was to see that he got what he was praying for."

An old resident on the Rhode Island coast suggested to a neighbor, "Tide's out, Prue. Let's go down to the flats and git some clams."

"No sirree," answered Prue firmly. "I've done et so many clams already in the past two days my stomach has started to rise and fall with the tide."

Logsdon Ordered To Pay Injured Youth $2,000

William Louis Logsdon, 29, Route 1, LaVale, driver of a car that struck and badly hurt a local youth at Henderson Avenue and Valley Street November 14, received one of the stiffest sentences ever to come out of Trial Magistrates Court yesterday.

Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti sentenced him to serve one year in the Maryland House of Correction for leaving the scene of an accident, but suspended the term on condition he is of good behavior and pays Andrew Jackson, 19, of 509 Necessity Street, $10 a week for 200 weeks beginning February 1. Jackson lost a leg as a result of the mishap.

Logsdon also drew a suspended 30-day jail sentence on a charge of failing to aid an injured person or arrange for aid. He was fined $100.75 for going through a stop sign, $100.75 on a reckless driving count and $100.75 for displaying fictitious tags on a motor vehicle. However, all the fines were suspended.

Represented by Attorney Earl E. Manges, the defendant entered pleas of guilty to all four charges. Jackson was represented at the hearing by Harold E. Naughton.

City Police said Jackson was crossing Henderson Avenue at the intersection when the vehicle operated by Logsdon struck him, carrying the youth about 81 feet before the car crashed against the iron railing, careened across the street and came to a stop beyond the driveway of "Bud and Ed's" garage.

Jackson's body was hurled end over end for an additional 82 feet after the machine hit the railing, and Lt. Edwin R. Lilya said the impact left the imprint of the youth's body on the right fender of the car. Taken to Allegany Hospital, badly mashed left leg was amputated below the knee.

According to police, Logsdon and a passenger identified as Mrs. Opal Boch, 217 Pear Street, left the scene without giving aid and were apprehended later at the woman's home.

Police said Logsdon told them he was traveling in second gear from 10 to 15 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

Only Five Inducted From Local Boards

Only five of the 3,778 men registered in the three local draft boards under the peacetime draft have been inducted in the Army so far, according to P. Emmett Fahey, coordinator for Boards 27, 28 and 29.

Those accepted after passing armed services physical examinations were born between 1922 and 1925, Fahey said.

A breakdown shows a total of 1,459 registered in Board 27, which covers the South End south of Williams Street to the West Virginia State Line. In Board 28, covering all of Cumberland east of Wills Creek to the Narrows; Bedford Road and Valley Road to the Pennsylvania Line, a total of 1,179 are registered.

Board 29, constituting all of Cumberland west of Wills Creek to Cresaptown and the McMullen Highway to Dawson, LaVale to Red Hill and Corriganville to Mt. Savage, and the Ellerslie areas, registered a total of 1,090 men.

Commenting on the low number of inductees, Fahey said only unmarried non-veterans were eligible for induction. He also cited the fact that many examined recently had been ineligible for service during the war and that deferments are still being granted.

Potomac Council Scouts Plan February Rally

The event, in which all local troop members will participate, will be held Thursday, February 10, in the National Guard Armory and will be one of the highlights of Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12.

The staff also made arrangements for the annual district meeting at St. Mary's Hall, Oldtown Road, Tuesday night, January 11.

Preceding the Scout Week rally, which will mark the thirty-ninth anniversary of scouting in the United States, a parade will be held by Boy and Girl Scout Troops and Cub and Brownie Packs.

Several contests will be held among the troops including compass, rope rescue, signal and pack slinging relays.

Cumberland troops will open the week's celebration by attending church. Also scheduled is a father and son hike.

The Southern Neighborhood, comprised of Troop 2, sponsored by the B. and O. YMCA; Troop 8, sponsored by St. Mary's Church, and Troop 15, sponsored by Fort Hill High School, will hold a covered dish supper February 8 in St. Mary's Hall.

Maryland Alumni Plan Founders Day Program

The 142nd anniversary of the founding of the University of Maryland will be celebrated by Allegany County alumni at a meeting January 20 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Plans for the observance were discussed at a meeting of the county directors in the office of the president, Dr. Russell J. Cook last Monday. The program is being prepared and will be released soon.

Dr. Cook is arranging for speakers and Miss Mary Murray, Mt. Savage, secretary, is in charge of attendance.

The board of directors is composed of Mrs. H. R. Aldridge, Frostburg; Miss Helen McFerran, Cumberland; Lt. Col. J. D. Paddleford, LaVale; Clifton E. Fuller, Cumberland; John M. Robb, Cumberland; J. T. Fey, Cumberland, and R. F. McHenry, Cresap Park.

Dental Health Day Set Aside

With the annuoncement of Monday, Febrauary 7, as Children's Dental Health Day, a committee of the Allegany-Garrett Dental Association urged parents to save their children dental troubles by having their teeth examined regularly.

The committee, composed of Dr. Frank E. Stamp, chairman, Dr. Milton S. Granet and Dr. William Allen, also issued the following statement:

"Dentists appreciate the necessity of giving children's teeth adequate care and many capable dentists devote a large portion of their time to care of children's teeth," the committee said.

"Dental caries, to use the technical term for tooth decay, are more prevalent than any other ailment with the exception of the common cold. It is estimated that 98 per cent of the population of the United States suffers from dental caries. During World War II it was found that 18.8 per cent of the men of draft age had to be rejected because of the severity of their dental decay.

"Dentists," the committee added, "urge parents to have their children's teeth examined in the third year of life. At this early age, tooth decay is common and can be treated quickly and cheaply. This early treatment insures a minimum loss of teeth and is also an important health measure."

The annual observance is sponsored by the American Dental Association, the committee said. No active program is planned here except that parents are asked to bring children to a dentist for an examination.

Two men were inducted into the Army from Local Board 29 Tuesday, according to Lt. George J. Gocke, recruiter.

Enlisting at the Army and Air Force Recruiting station yesterday were Harold H. McClelland, 913 Harding Avenue, Air Force; Raymond B. Minnick, Gormania, W. Va., Regular Army; Delbert R. Reckart, Friendsville, Regular Army; William R. Frantz, Friendsville, Regular Army; Lloyd W. Burgess, Friendsville, Regular Army, and Robert J. Garlock, Zihlman, Regular Army.

Lt. Gocke reminded prospective applicants that the Regular Army no longer accepts enlistments from married men eligible for the lower pay grades.

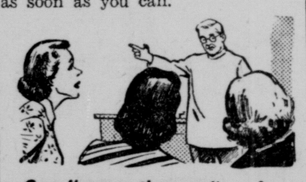
Should mental patients be sent to jail?

Answer: The very idea is an outrage to our sense of justice. Yet in "The Shame of the States", Albert Deutsch cites numerous cases in which mentally sick people whose families could not take care of them have been kept in jail because no mental hospital had room for them, besides telling of state mental hospitals whose patients have worse food and more unsanitary quarters than the inmates of the average prison. He says the reason is that state legislators are unwilling to appropriate money for people who have no votes.

Are there children who like to be punished?

Answer: Yes, though happily not many of them. Attitudes which in adult life lead to crime or mental illness may appear in children as refusal to show pain when punished, or even as finding a grim satisfaction in it. If a child smiles or appears indifferent when disciplined, it's a grave mistake to punish him all the harder; he will only use your "cruelty" to justify his secret hatred and defiance, based on his conviction that you hate him. If you cannot correct this impression, get him to a child psychiatrist as soon as you can.



Can "group therapy" replace individual treatment?

Answer: No, says Dr. Ralph W. Coltharp, psychiatrist at the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital, Fort Worth, Texas. Though some patients did not agree, Dr. Coltharp believes group discussions of emotional problems are particularly useful with men of above average intelligence, both as a time-saver, and by helping them to realize that other people suffer from the same fears and have the same difficulties they do. But because no one can be entirely himself in public, nothing can quite take the place of individual treatment.

Small College Teams Pacing Cage Scorers

Cincinnati Still Leads Offensively

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The University of Cincinnati and Manhattan College don't play "big time" basketball schedules—if that means taking on all kinds of opposition from coast to coast — but they're well ahead of the big-timers in the current collegiate scoring race.

Latest statistics from the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, covering games through Jan. 1, show that Cincinnati has averaged 76.4 points a game in winning five in a row. Manhattan, with six victories and one defeat, shows a 76.1 average.

Bradley Foes Tough

Bradley University of Peoria, Ill., which does face the toughest opponents it can find, stands third on the list with a 73.5 average for 12 victories and one loss. The listing covers only the so-called "major" college teams.

Bradley, now a member of the Missouri Valley Conference, is the only one of the top three which also holds a top place in the scoring percentages. In rolling up 956 points in 13 games, the Braves connected on 370 out of 951 field goal attempts for a .389 average.

Cincinnati ranks seventh in free-throw percentages with 70 of 102 for a .686 mark and Bradley is 13th with .667. Mississippi's foul shooting record, in only three games, is tops —35 good on 47 tried for .745. Next comes Valparaiso (Ind.) University with 134 of 188 for .713.

Defense Important

Still proving that defense is an important factor in winning basketball games, Oklahoma A. and M., Columbia and Kentucky all have held their opponents to averages of under 40 points a game.

The Aggies, winning seven of eight games, allowed a total of 290 points, an average of 36.3 per game. Columbia shows a defensive average of 36.7 for three games and Kentucky's one-beaten Wildcats a 39.3 average in nine contests.

Investigation Is Begun In Bribe Of Cage Player

Four Men Arrested In "Fix" Attempt

By JOSEPH HALL

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—A New York county grand jury today began an investigation of an alleged attempt by four men to "fix" a college basketball game with a $1,000 bribe.

The jury heard its first witness less than 20 hours after the game, between George Washington University of Washington, D. C., and Manhattan College of New York, was played in Madison Square Garden.

The witness was David Shapiro of Brooklyn, 25-year-old co-captain of the George Washington team to whom the $1,000 allegedly was offered. Authorities said he co-operated with them wholeheartedly in a four-month investigation which exposed the attempted gambling coup.

Four Arrested Yesterday

The four men accused of the "fix" attempt were arrested yesterday just before the game and are held in $50,000 bail each.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, praising Shapiro's "honesty and courage" said the player came to the district attorney's office last September and said he had been contacted by men who wanted him to "fix" games.

The player, a world war two veteran with four battle stars, followed instructions of the law enforcement officials in his dealings with the men from then on, Hogan said.

The district attorney said Shapiro told him the quartet wanted him to see that Manhattan won last night's game by at least 18 or 19 points.

13-Point Favorites

Jack Levy, 40, of Miami, Fla.

William Rivlin, 43, of New York.

All four denied offering the bribe.

Hogan said in a statement that "the contamination of vultures such as these defendants can be effectively removed if other young men will follow the courageous course of David Shapiro."

D. A. Gives Account

The district attorney gave this account of the affair:

Shapiro first was approached by Aronowitz. The player went to the district attorney's office and was told to stall Aronowitz along and continue contacting the office for instructions.

On Sept. 14 Aronowitz and Klein told Shapiro he could make up to $10,000 during the cage season by seeing that his team won or lost by a certain number of points.

Five more meetings were held, with the men suggesting that George Washington's games with North Carolina State, Washington and Lee, and Virginia might be fixed.

Shapiro put them off but, acting under Hogan's instructions, agreed to accept the $1,000 bribe in connection with the Manhattan game.

The money was to be paid to an "uncle" before the game. The "uncle," a detective, arrested Klein and Aronowitz. Levy and Rivlin were arrested earlier at an airlines terminal.

The case recalled the Brooklyn College basketball "scandal" of three years ago. Five members of the Brooklyn team signed a statement they had received $1,000 to throw a game with Akron in Boston. The game was not played and the five were expelled.

Grantsville Loses To Stoystown, 26-14

Stoystown led all the way with quarter scores being 7-4, 14-7 and 18-13. Eppley paced the victors with eight points.

Grantsville's next game will be with Meyersdale High here Friday night.

The local Jayvees lost to Stroystown 35-10 in the preliminary. The lineups:

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 5 (AP) — The New Orleans Item published a letter from a reader today pointing out an oddity of the recent Sugar Bowl basketball tournament, which dozens of sports writers overlooked.

The reader, Ben L. Fastring of New Orleans, cited these facts:

St. Louis U. scored fewest points in the two-night competition, 103, and won the Sugar Bowl championship.

Kentucky had the next lowest total, 118, and finished second.

Tulane scored 128 points and finished third.

Decathlon Champ Bob Mathias Wins Sullivan Trophy

Youngest Athlete To Get The Honor

By JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (INS)—Bob Mathias, 17-year-old Tulare, Cal., winner of the Olympic decathlon championship last summer, was named tonight to receive the 1948 James E. Sullivan Memorial Trophy.

The award goes annually to the amateur athlete who "by performance, example and good influence, did most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year."

Third Winner

Mathias is the third decathlon winner to receive the trophy, but he is the youngest athlete ever to be given the award.

The husky youth will be presented the trophy at a luncheon in New York Feb. 20 by Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus, O., national AAU president.

Mathias won the Sullivan trophy by a substantial margin over Harrison Dillard, Baldwin-Wallace college hurdler and sprint star; breaststroke swimming champion Joe Verdeur of Philadelphia, and Henry Wittenberg, New York police sergeant and Olympic wrestling king.

Dillard, world record holder in the hurdles and Olympic 100-yard dash victor, also was runner-up for the Sullivan trophy in 1947. That year, souller Jack Kelly won the honor.

Compiles 1,491 Points

Mathias, now preparing for college at Kiski Prep, compiled 1,491 points in balloting by sports experts throughout the country.

Competing in the gruelling decathlon for the first time in last June's Pacific Coast championships, he compiled the highest point total since 1941. Then he went on to win the National AAU championship in the event.

At the London Olympics, Mathias was regarded as an underdog, but he came from behind to win.

Snow Stalls Teams In Wyoming Town

GREEN RIVER, Wyo., Jan. 5 (AP)—This southwestern Wyoming railroad town has become an unexpected mecca for college athletes.

Two college basketball teams, three football teams and a hockey team were aboard several eastbound passenger trains tied up here since Monday because of the blizzard in southeastern Wyoming.

The cage teams included those of Wyoming University and Hamline of St. Paul, Minn. Both were enroute home from a tournament at Los Angeles. Also en route east from the west coast were the East football team, and grid squads from Drake and Villanova. The hockey team was from Michigan.

Sox Sell Hodgin

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (INS) — The Chicago White Sox today announced the sale of Outfielder Ralph Hodgin to the Sacramento Solons of the Pacific Coast League. The sum involved was not announced.

Hodgin, 33, batted .266 in 114 games last season, his sixth campaign with the White Sox.

Keyser Rallies To Edge Rowlesburg

Mineral Countians Win By 35-34 Score

KEYSER, W. Va., Jan. 5—Coach John Shelton's Keyser High School cagers rallied in the final half to edge a strong Rowlesburg quint here tonight by the score of 35 to 34.

Paced by Miller and Cook who tallied 25 points between them Rowlesburg hopped off to a 14-9 halftime lead but were unable to maintain the margin and trailed 25-22 at the close of the third stanza.

The score was tied five times and Rowlesburg was ahead 26-25 before Carroll Nelson's shot put the Mineral Countians ahead to stay in the final period.

The visitors kept in the ball game throughout with an excellent showing at the foul line where they hopped 12 of 15 free throws.

Nelson was the big gun for Keyser with 16 points as the Golden Tornado chalked up its fourth win of the season as against one defeat. The lineup:

T. Of C. To Bring Bouts To New York In Boxing War

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. (INS)—The Tournament of Champions, Inc., brought its boxing war with the long-established Twentieth Century Sporting Club into New York City today.

The agreement, which runs through April 26, 1950, was described by the T. of C. as giving it a "foothold" in New York. However, it was little more than a toehold at best—the Manhattan center offers only a cramped 3,500 seating capacity.

Previously, the T. of C. has staged its major fights at Newark and Jersey City, N. J. Among these were the third Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano middleweight title fight, and the subsequent bout in which Zale lost the crown to Marcel Cerdan.

The T. of C. said it will apply immediately for a New York State boxing license. The announcement said a promoter and matchmaker will be appointed shortly.

LaSalle Jayvees Top St. Charles, 25-16

NFL Grid Champs Are "Not Making Money"

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5 (AP) — Owner Alexis Thompson agreed today to sell his champion Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League if he gets at least $250,000.

Thompson said he is anxious to sell—But only "if the price is right." He claims he lost money on the Eagles the last two seasons despite winning teams.

60 Days To Sell

General Manager Charley Ewart has been given 60 days to sell the club—at Thompson's price and if Thompson gives a final okay.

"My figure is no less than $250,000 and no higher than 300,000," Thompson said at his New York office. "The difference will be settled on the basis of new equipment we've purchased and ticket sales for next season."

"I plan to keep the Saranac property although I would like to rent it to the new owners as a training site," Thompson said. "Besides, we looks upon the camp as a community project in Saranac Lake. The town has been throughly cooperative with us and we enjoy our relationship."

So far, says Lex, there have been few offers.

"No one has approached me, personally, with an offer to buy the Eagles."

Has Many Offers

An announcement from the Eagle office however, relates a different story. It says:

"Mr. Thompson has entertained numerous offers for the club in the past year.

"Recently sincere interest for the purchase of the Eagles by legitimate groups of civic-minded sportsmen in Philadelphia has been advanced. There is nothing definite at this point.

"In order to facilitate negotiations and also to preserve the management and coaching organization which has sucessfully produced a championship club, Mr. Thompson has granted a 60-day option through NFL Commissioner Bert Bell to General Manager Charles Ewart to negotiate the club's sale.

"All negotiations must be approved by the National Football League."

An offer for the club's purchase was made two weeks ago by James P. Clark, former Democratic city chairman. He declined to say what the offer was but indicated it was less than $200,000.

First Period Surge Is Too Much For AHS

Roy Comer Paces Hawks To Victory

A husky band of sharpshooters from Ridgeley (W.Va.) High School proved the old adage that "possession of the ball is nine points of the game" to easily defeat an invading aggregation from Allegany High School last night on the Ridgeley court by the score of 36 to 24.

Controlling the sphere better than 70 per cent of the game the fast-breaking Blackhawks piled up a tremendous first half adavantage against Coach Walter L. "Bill" Bowers' cagers and coasted to their second victory of the current season.

Campers Held Scoreless

Big Paul Lindsay, Roy Comer and Don Loy sparked a first period drive that gave Ridgeley a 14-2 quarter advantage, holding the Campers scoreless from the field.

After Jim Ruehl pocketed one of two fouls to open the scoring for Allegany the Hawks reeled off 10 straight points on fouls by Lindsay and Loy and three twin-pointers by Comer and a set shot by Dick Dorsey before Ed Landefeld broke the spell with another singleton from the 15-foot stripe for the visitors.

Loy's layup and free tosses by Loy and Dorsey upped Ridgeley's lead to 12 points at the quarter and Coach Jesse Riggleman's cagers maintained the margin throughout the remainder of the contest.

Paul Fisher and Lindsay scored with lightning rapidity in the second period before Landefeld bucketed Allegany's first field goal with three minutes gone in the stanza. Lindsay's foul made it 19-4 Ridgeley and Johnny Vernall and Loy traded fielders before Bill Day hooped a foul to conclude the scoring with Ridgeley ahead 22-6 at the half.

Build Huge Lead

The Hawks continued to build their lead and held a 26-8 edge with half the third period gone before the Bowersmen began to connect. The quarter ended with Ridgeley leading 29-10.

The Campers put on a typical last-ditch rally in the final stanza, outpointing Ridgeley 14-7, but were unable to overcome the huge deficit.

Moisture on the newly refinished floor almost caused a repeat of the Ridgeley-Fort Hill fiasco of last season when players were unable to keep their feet during play because of the slickness of the court. However, the game was only slowed down partly due to the bad condition.

Salad Bowl Finances Take Turn Upward

In their first promotion a year ago, the Phoenix Kiwanis Club lost between $3,000 and $4,000 on the New Year's Day charity football game here.

For the 1949 affair, a parade, halftime ceremonies featuring massed bands from Arizona high schools and colleges, and other features were added to the program for the game which Drake University of Des Moines won 14-13 from the University of Arizona.

Today E. N. Houlgate, treasurer of the sponsoring Kiwanis Club, said between $13,000 and $14,000 had been gained for the club's endownment fund for the state's handicapped children.

Lou Klein Signs Mexican Contract

MONTERREY, Mex., Jan. 5. (AP)—The Monterrey "Sultans" announced today they have signed former St. Louis Cards shortstop, Lou Klein, for the 1949 season.

This brings Monterrey to the limit of five foreign players permitted each club under new Mexican League restrictions.

Anuar Cannavati, Sultan owner, did not mention the figure at which Klein signed, but said "he agreed to new conditions."

The cactus circuit has chopped salaries considerably in order to recover from bankruptcy which closed the league last year in midseason. Club payrolls are limited to $4,300 a month.

SCORE CORRECTION

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh announced last night that the official scorebook for the Fort Hill-Central basketball game Tuesday night at Lonaconing showed the final score to be 37-23, Fort Hill, instead of the 35-23 score previously stated. Johnny Alderton, high-scoring Sentinel forward, tallied 19 points instead of 17 as credited.

Small College Teams Pacing Cage Scorers

Cincinnati Still Leads Offensively

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The University of Cincinnati and Manhattan College don't play "big time" basketball schedules—if that means taking on all kinds of opposition from coast to coast — but they're well ahead of the big-timers in the current collegiate scoring race.

Latest statistics from the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, covering games through Jan. 1, show that Cincinnati has averaged 76.4 points a game in winning five in a row. Manhattan, with six victories and one defeat, shows a 76.1 average.

Bradley Foes Tough

Bradley University of Peoria, Ill., which does face the toughest opponents it can find, stands third on the list with a 73.5 average for 12 victories and one loss. The listing covers only the so-called "major" college teams.

Bradley, now a member of the Missouri Valley Conference, is the only one of the top three which also holds a top place in the scoring percentages. In rolling up 956 points in 13 games, the Braves connected on 370 out of 951 field goal attempts for a .389 average.

Cincinnati ranks seventh in free-throw percentages with 70 of 102 for a .686 mark and Bradley is 13th with .667. Mississippi's foul shooting record, in only three games, is tops —35 good on 47 tried for .745. Next comes Valparaiso (Ind.) University with 134 of 188 for .713.

Defense Important

Still proving that defense is an important factor in winning basketball games, Oklahoma A. and M., Columbia and Kentucky all have held their opponents to averages of under 40 points a game.

The Aggies, winning seven of eight games, allowed a total of 290 points, an average of 36.3 per game. Columbia shows a defensive average of 36.7 for three games and Kentucky's one-beaten Wildcats a 39.3 average in nine contests.

Investigation Is Begun In Bribe Of Cage Player

Four Men Arrested In "Fix" Attempt

By JOSEPH HALL

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—A New York county grand jury today began an investigation of an alleged attempt by four men to "fix" a college basketball game with a $1,000 bribe.

The jury heard its first witness less than 20 hours after the game, between George Washington University of Washington, D. C., and Manhattan College of New York, was played in Madison Square Garden.

The witness was David Shapiro of Brooklyn, 25-year-old co-captain of the George Washington team to whom the $1,000 allegedly was offered. Authorities said he co-operated with them wholeheartedly in a four-month investigation which exposed the attempted gambling coup.

Four Arrested Yesterday

The four men accused of the "fix" attempt were arrested yesterday just before the game and are held in $50,000 bail each.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, praising Shapiro's "honesty and courage" said the player came to the district attorney's office last September and said he had been contacted by men who wanted him to "fix" games.

The player, a world war two veteran with four battle stars, followed instructions of the law enforcement officials in his dealings with the men from then on, Hogan said.

The district attorney said Shapiro told him the quartet wanted him to see that Manhattan won last night's game by at least 18 or 19 points.

13-Point Favorites

Jack Levy, 40, of Miami, Fla.
William Rivlin, 43, of New York.
Joseph Aronowitz, 35, a cloth cutter, of Brooklyn.

All four denied offering the bribe.

Hogan said in a statement that "the contamination of vultures such as these defendants can be effectively removed if other young men will follow the courageous course of David Shapiro."

D. A. Gives Account

The district attorney gave this account of the affair:

Shapiro first was approached by Aronowitz. The player went to the district attorney's office and was told to stall Aronowitz along and continue contacting the office for instructions.

On Sept. 14 Aronowitz and Klein told Shapiro he could make up to $10,000 during the cage season by seeing that his team won or lost by a certain number of points.

Five more meetings were held, with the men suggesting that George Washington's games with North Carolina State, Washington and Lee, and Virginia might be fixed.

Shapiro put them off but, acting under Hogan's instructions, agreed to accept the $1,000 bribe in connection with the Manhattan game.

The money was to be paid to an "uncle" before the game. The "uncle," a detective, arrested Klein and Aronowitz. Levy and Rivlin were arrested earlier at an airlines terminal.

The case recalled the Brooklyn College basketball "scandal" of three years ago. Five members of the Brooklyn team signed a statement they had received $1,000 to throw a game with Akron in Boston. The game was not played and the five were expelled.

ST. LOUIS SCORES LESS POINTS, BUT WINS TOURNAMENT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 5 (AP)—The New Orleans Item published a letter from a reader today pointing out an oddity of the recent Sugar Bowl basketball tournament, which dozens of sports writers overlooked.

The reader, Ben L. Fastring of New Orleans, cited these facts:

St. Louis U. scored fewest points in the two-night competition, 103, and won the Sugar Bowl championship.

Kentucky had the next lowest total, 118, and finished second.

Tulane scored 128 points and finished third.

Decathlon Champ Bob Mathias Wins Sullivan Trophy

Youngest Athlete To Get The Honor

By JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (INS)—Bob Mathias, 17-year-old Tulare, Cal., winner of the Olympic decathlon championship last summer, was named tonight to receive the 1948 James E. Sullivan Memorial Trophy.

The award goes annually to the amateur athlete who "by performance, example and good influence, did most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year."

Third Winner

Mathias is the third decathlon winner to receive the trophy, but he is the youngest athlete ever to be given the award.

The husky youth will be presented the trophy at a luncheon in New York Feb. 20 by Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus, O., national AAU president.

Mathias won the Sullivan trophy by a substantial margin over Harrison Dillard, Baldwin-Wallace college hurdler and sprint star; breaststroke swimming champion Joe Verdeur of Philadelphia, and Henry Wittenberg, New York police sergeant and Olympic wrestling king.

Dillard, world record holder in the hurdles and Olympic 100-yard dash victor, also was runner-up for the Sullivan trophy in 1947. That year, souller Jack Kelly won the honor.

Compiles 1,491 Points

Mathias, now preparing for college at Kiski Prep, compiled 1,491 points in balloting by sports experts throughout the country.

Competing in the gruelling decathlon for the first time in last June's Pacific Coast championships, he compiled the highest point total since 1941. Then he went on to win the National AAU championship in the event.

At the London Olympics, Mathias was regarded as an underdog, but he came from behind to win.

Snow Stalls Teams In Wyoming Town

GREEN RIVER, Wyo., Jan. 5 (AP)—This southwestern Wyoming railroad town has become an unexpected mecca for college athletes.

Two college basketball teams, three football teams and a hockey team were aboard several eastbound passenger trains tied up here since Monday because of the blizzard in southeastern Wyoming.

The cage teams included those of Wyoming University and Hamline of St. Paul, Minn. Both were enroute home from a tournament at Los Angeles. Also en route east from the west coast were the East football team, and grid squads from Drake and Villanova. The hockey team was from Michigan.

Sox Sell Hodgin

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (INS) — The Chicago White Sox today announced the sale of Outfielder Ralph Hodgin to the Sacramento Solons of the Pacific Coast League. The sum involved was not announced.

Hodgin, 33, batted .266 in 114 games last season, his sixth campaign with the White Sox.

NFL Grid Champs Are "Not Making Money"

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5 (AP) — Owner Alexis Thompson agreed today to sell his champion Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League if he gets at least $250,000.

Thompson said he is anxious to sell—But only "if the price is right." He claims he lost money on the Eagles the last two seasons despite winning teams.

60 Days To Sell

General Manager Charley Ewart has been given 60 days to sell the club—at Thompson's price and if Thompson gives a final okay.

"My figure is no less than $250,000 and no higher than 300,000," Thompson said at his New York office. "The difference will be settled on the basis of new equipment we've purchased and ticket sales for next season."

"I plan to keep the Saranac property although I would like to rent it to the new owners as a training site," Thompson said. "Besides, we looks upon the camp as a community project in Saranac Lake. The town has been throughly cooperative with us and we enjoy our relationship."

So far, says Lex, there have been few offers.

Has Many Offers

An announcement from the Eagle office however, relates a different story. It says:

"Mr. Thompson has entertained numerous offers for the club in the past year.

"Recently sincere interest for the purchase of the Eagles by legitimate groups of civic-minded sportsmen in Philadelphia has been advanced. There is nothing definite at this point.

"In order to facilitate negotiations and also to preserve the management and coaching organization which has sucessfully produced a championship club, Mr. Thompson has granted a 60-day option through NFL Commissioner Bert Bell to General Manager Charles Ewart to negotiate the club's sale.

"All negotiations must be approved by the National Football League."

An offer for the club's purchase was made two weeks ago by James P. Clark, former Democratic city chairman. He declined to say what the offer was but indicated it was less than $200,000.

Keyser Rallies To Edge Rowlesburg

Mineral Countians Win By 35-34 Score

KEYSER, W. Va., Jan. 5—Coach John Shelton's Keyser High School cagers rallied in the final half to edge a strong Rowlesburg quint here tonight by the score of 35 to 34.

Paced by Miller and Cook who tallied 25 points between them Rowlesburg hopped off to a 14-9 halftime lead but were unable to maintain the margin and trailed 25-22 at the close of the third stanza.

The score was tied five times and Rowlesburg was ahead 26-25 before Carroll Nelson's shot put the Mineral Countians ahead to stay in the final period.

The visitors kept in the ball game throughout with an excellent showing at the foul line where they hopped 12 of 15 free throws.

Nelson was the big gun for Keyser with 16 points as the Golden Tornado chalked up its fourth win of the season as against one defeat. The lineup:

T. Of C. To Bring Bouts To New York In Boxing War

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. (INS)—The Tournament of Champions, Inc., brought its boxing war with the long-established Twentieth Century Sporting Club into New York City today.

The agreement, which runs through April 26, 1950, was described by the T. of C. as giving it a "foothold" in New York. However, it was little more than a toehold at best—the Manhattan center offers only a cramped 3,500 seating capacity.

Previously, the T. of C. has staged its major fights at Newark and Jersey City, N. J. Among these were the third Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano middleweight title fight, and the subsequent bout in which Zale lost the crown to Marcel Cerdan.

The T. of C. said it will apply immediately for a New York State boxing license. The announcement said a promoter and matchmaker will be appointed shortly.

First Period Surge Is Too Much For AHS

Roy Comer Paces Hawks To Victory

A husky band of sharpshooters from Ridgeley (W.Va.) High School proved the old adage that "possession of the ball is nine points of the game" to easily defeat an invading aggregation from Allegany High School last night on the Ridgeley court by the score of 36 to 24.

Controlling the sphere better than 70 per cent of the game the fast-breaking Blackhawks piled up a tremendous first half adavantage against Coach Walter L. "Bill" Bowers' cagers and coasted to their second victory of the current season.

Campers Held Scoreless

Big Paul Lindsay, Roy Comer and Don Loy sparked a first period drive that gave Ridgeley a 14-2 quarter advantage, holding the Campers scoreless from the field.

After Jim Ruehl pocketed one of two fouls to open the scoring for Allegany the Hawks reeled off 10 straight points on fouls by Lindsay and Loy and three twin-pointers by Comer and a set shot by Dick Dorsey before Ed Landefeld broke the spell with another singleton from the 15-foot stripe for the visitors.

Loy's layup and free tosses by Loy and Dorsey upped Ridgeley's lead to 12 points at the quarter and Coach Jesse Riggleman's cagers maintained the margin throughout the remainder of the contest.

Paul Fisher and Lindsay scored with lightning rapidity in the second period before Landefeld bucketed Allegany's first field goal with three minutes gone in the stanza. Lindsay's foul made it 19-4 Ridgeley and Johnny Vernall and Loy traded fielders before Bill Day hooped a foul to conclude the scoring with Ridgeley ahead 22-6 at the half.

Build Huge Lead

The Hawks continued to build their lead and held a 26-8 edge with half the third period gone before the Bowersmen began to connect. The quarter ended with Ridgeley leading 29-10.

The Campers put on a typical last-ditch rally in the final stanza, outpointing Ridgeley 14-7, but were unable to overcome the huge deficit.

Moisture on the newly refinished floor almost caused a repeat of the Ridgeley-Fort Hill fiasco of last season when players were unable to keep their feet during play because of the slickness of the court. However, the game was only slowed down partly due to the bad condition.

Salad Bowl Finances Take Turn Upward

In their first promotion a year ago, the Phoenix Kiwanis Club lost between $3,000 and $4,000 on the New Year's Day charity football game here.

For the 1949 affair, a parade, halftime ceremonies featuring massed bands from Arizona high schools and colleges, and other features were added to the program for the game which Drake University of Des Moines won 14-13 from the University of Arizona.

Today E. N. Houlgate, treasurer of the sponsoring Kiwanis Club, said between $13,000 and $14,000 had been gained for the club's endownment fund for the state's handicapped children.

Lou Klein Signs Mexican Contract

MONTERREY, Mex., Jan. 5. (AP)—The Monterrey "Sultans" announced today they have signed former St. Louis Cards shortstop, Lou Klein, for the 1949 season.

This brings Monterrey to the limit of five foreign players permitted each club under new Mexican League restrictions.

Anuar Cannavati, Sultan owner, did not mention the figure at which Klein signed, but said "he agreed to new conditions."

The cactus circuit has chopped salaries considerably in order to recover from bankruptcy which closed the league last year in midseason. Club payrolls are limited to $4,300 a month.

SCORE CORRECTION

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh announced last night that the official scorebook for the Fort Hill-Central basketball game Tuesday night at Lonaconing showed the final score to be 37-23, Fort Hill, instead of the 35-23 score previously stated. Johnny Alderton, high-scoring Sentinel forward, tallied 19 points instead of 17 as credited.

Goodyear's amazing new machine — the "Tractionizer"* — will give your present tires a "cat's claw" grip on wet, slippery roads . . . and do it right on your car!

Tractionizing is the BEST method known to give tires extra winter grip! This method uses no recapping materials mixed with sawdust or abrasives that fall out, leaving a number of tiny holes riddled through the entire thickness of the tread. Goodyear Tractionizing "tattoos" its thousands upon thousands of rough-edged holes only into the top part of your original tough tread where it does the good.

- No extra tires to buy.
- No waiting for a special recap job.
- One Tractionizing treatment lasts the average driver a whole winter.

Frostburg VFW Plans To Move To New Quarters

Post Will Occupy Race Hotel Building

FROSTBURG—John R. Fairgrieve Post, No 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars is planning to move about January 15 from the Betz building to the Race Hotel building East Main Street, which was purchased by the post in the fall of 1947 while it was occupied by a chain grocery market.

Remodeling of the new home, purchased from the heirs of the late Henry Mayer, is nearly complete. Arch Baker, post commander, in charge of the remodeling, said the post will have a home comparing favorably with the best in this section.

The brick building is a two story structure with a large basement. The main floor will contain a tap room, cocktail lounge, dance hall, kitchen, two storage rooms and rest rooms. The entire first floor is covered with oak flooring. At the entrance there is an inside vestibule enabling guests to enter the dance hall without going through the tap room. The second floor consists of a meeting room and apartments.

John R. Fairgrieve Post was organized in 1936 and met one year in the Engle building before moving to the Betz building in 1937.

The post has an honor guard consisting of 24 men, with uniforms of O. D. style, white helmets and Eisenhower jackets, who have been attending reburial services for war veterans.

POOL WORKERS—This photograph, taken in the summer of 1921, shows a group of Frostburg men and boys who, under the direction of Melvin M. Ward and the late James H. Fuller, Frostburg contractors, helped to build Frostburg's present swimming pool. Scores of other men and boys also helped in the construction work, which was done at a time when Frostburg had no recreation facilities for children of the community. Ward is shown in the background at the left center of the picture, while the youth standing on the barrel in the left foreground is Ray Ward, the contractor now in charge of building the new American Legion home in Frostburg.

Wenzels Win House Decoration Contest

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wenzel won first prize in the Lions Club contest for the best-decorated house during the Christmas holidays, Irvin Bowman, chairman of the Lions decoration committee, has announced.

Mrs. Eunice D. McCoy took second prize and Mrs. Arnold Weese placed third.

Interest In Recreation Program Plans Increasing In Frostburg

Public Meeting To Be Held Jan. 12

FROSTBURG—Since the Mayor and City Commissioners of Frostburg have adopted improved recreational facilities, including a new swimming pool, as a major project for 1949, much interest has been taken in the methods employed in building the present pool, which was an expensive project at the time it was constructed.

According to M. M. Ward, practically every contractor in the community aided in supervising construction of the pool by men and boys who worked several months on the job.

The present Frostburg pool is becoming obsolete. The Mayor and City Commissioners have been urged to appoint a Park and Swimming Pool Commission of five members as provided in the city charter to recommend ways and means of securing funds and to draft long range recreation plans not only for a modern pool but improvement of the grounds surrounding the pool.

Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore said he will announce the names of the commission at a public meeting to be held in the City Hall Wednesday, January 12, at 8 p.m. He will also announce the appointment of a Playground Commission of seven members to provide playgrounds for smaller children in various sections of the community.

A proposal has been made that the Mayor and Council request the Legislature to grant the city authority to float a bond issue to provide the city with a modern pool and recreation park.

Frostburg VFW Plans To Move To New Quarters

Post Will Occupy Race Hotel Building

FROSTBURG—John R. Fairgrieve Post, No 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars is planning to move about January 15 from the Betz building to the Race Hotel building East Main Street, which was purchased by the post in the fall of 1947 while it was occupied by a chain grocery market.

Remodeling of the new home, purchased from the heirs of the late Henry Mayer, is nearly complete. Arch Baker, post commander, in charge of the remodeling, said the post will have a home comparing favorably with the best in this section.

The brick building is a two story structure with a large basement. The main floor will contain a tap room, cocktail lounge, dance hall, kitchen, two storage rooms and rest rooms. The entire first floor is covered with oak flooring. At the entrance there is an inside vestibule enabling guests to enter the dance hall without going through the tap room. The second floor consists of a meeting room and apartments.

John R. Fairgrieve Post was organized in 1936 and met one year in the Engle building before moving to the Betz building in 1937.

The post has an honor guard consisting of 24 men, with uniforms of O. D. style, white helmets and Eisenhower jackets, who have been attending reburial services for war veterans.

POOL WORKERS—This photograph, taken in the summer of 1921, shows a group of Frostburg men and boys who, under the direction of Melvin M. Ward and the late James H. Fuller, Frostburg contractors, helped to build Frostburg's present swimming pool. Scores of other men and boys also helped in the construction work, which was done at a time when Frostburg had no recreation facilities for children of the community. Ward is shown in the background at the left center of the picture, while the youth standing on the barrel in the left foreground is Ray Ward, the contractor now in charge of building the new American Legion home in Frostburg.

Wenzels Win House Decoration Contest

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wenzel won first prize in the Lions Club contest for the best-decorated house during the Christmas holidays, Irvin Bowman, chairman of the Lions decoration committee, has announced.

Mrs. Eunice D. McCoy took second prize and Mrs. Arnold Weese placed third.

Public Meeting To Be Held Jan. 12

FROSTBURG—Since the Mayor and City Commissioners of Frostburg have adopted improved recreational facilities, including a new swimming pool, as a major project for 1949, much interest has been taken in the methods employed in building the present pool, which was an expensive project at the time it was constructed.

According to M. M. Ward, practically every contractor in the community aided in supervising construction of the pool by men and boys who worked several months on the job.

The present Frostburg pool is becoming obsolete. The Mayor and City Commissioners have been urged to appoint a Park and Swimming Pool Commission of five members as provided in the city charter to recommend ways and means of securing funds and to draft long range recreation plans not only for a modern pool but improvement of the grounds surrounding the pool.

Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore said he will announce the names of the commission at a public meeting to be held in the City Hall Wednesday, January 12, at 8 p.m. He will also announce the appointment of a Playground Commission of seven members to provide playgrounds for smaller children in various sections of the community.

A proposal has been made that the Mayor and Council request the Legislature to grant the city authority to float a bond issue to provide the city with a modern pool and recreation park.

Mosser Renamed Fire Chief

PARSONS, W. Va.—Glendie E. Mosser, Sr., was re-elected chief of the Thomas Volunteer Fire Department for the 26th consecutive year at a meeting Monday night in Thomas.

Other officers were Delton H. Kight, president; M. Grant Smith, vice president; Junior Schoonover, assistant fire chief; Ray Jones, captain; Leonard Pase, lieutenant; Harley Kight, secretary, and Roy Helmick, treasurer. Trustees were Ed Breedlove, Bernhard Wenck, and W. G. Helmick.

Thomas reported no major fires in that town for the past four years. The last major fire was in November 1944 with $2,000 damage to the home of D. E. Cuppett, Sr. prosecuting attorney. Only a few flue fires were reported last year and with no damages.

The fire department, however, was called to Gormania during the year to a major fire and also had several calls to search for missing persons. They also assisted in fighting forest fires. Chief Moser said the only new equipment added during the year was several feet of two and one half inch hose costing $500.

Davis Fire Co. Makes Changes

PARSONS, W. Va. — Several changes were made in the Davis Volunteer Fire Department at its annual meeting Monday night in the Fire Hall.

Among the changes was the resignation of Belmont S. Cleaver, fire chief for 15 years, who resigned due to other business. He recommended that the department elect the assistant chief, Milford J. Sponaugle, as chief. Former Chief Cleaver has been made Fire Fighting Advisor.

Ira McDowell, president of the fire department, has resigned due to ill health and was replaced by Wayne C. Spiggle, who was vice president. Other officers elected were H. L. Williams, vice president; Ralph Good, re-elected secretary for the eighth consecutive year, and H. K. Kackley, treasurer for the third term. Willis Hull was re-elected assistant to the secretary-treasurer for the second term. Frank Robey was named assistant chief; James Arnold, as captain, and Ellery Hinkle, lieutenant.

The fire department, with 40 active members, also has several members on its honorary list who were charter members of the department. The list includes Lloyd Winters, Ollie Hoffman, Louie Holcombe, Ed Miller, Jr., and Karl Deahl.

No major fires were reported for Davis for the third consecutive year.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5—(INS)—The biggest show on earth is being planned for April 1st by the Friars Club, proceeds to go to the Motion Picture Relief Fund. It's not generally known that the fund has been badly in need of money to care for the many cases—more than double this year.

Rita Hayworth

So, it's high time, I say, that the industry does something for its own. George Jessel and Jack Benny will be masters of ceremony, which ought to guarantee a great evening. George Burns, and practically every big name in town (male, of course) will be there on the program.

Harry Cohn, who is chairman of the big event, and William Perlberg, who is chairman for the fund, have started the ball rolling.

Barry Sullivan is jumping and jiving over the way 1949 has started for him. After a long run of cowboy and heavy roles, he steps out in the big league as Clark Gable's sidewick in "Any Number Can Play."

Barry is the second player not on the MGM roster, signed for the "King's" new movie—Alexis Smith is the other.

As news of these new contracts keep coming into my office, I am convinced that Hollywood is recovering from its 1948 jitters. After all the moaning, when the count was in, the box office was only a little off 1947's good record.

There were no fanccy frills at the wedding of Barbara Stanwyck's nephew, Eugene Vaslett, to pretty Barbara Bacon. It was just a simple family affair because that is the way Barbara likes things.

But, her eyes certainly shone with pride. Barbara manages to keep most of her private affairs so private that I didn't even know she had a nephew until news of his marriage on Tuesday.

"I certainly don't mind if you say I'm proud of him," Barbara said. "Eugene is a gradate of Notre Dame and he went into the service as an enlisted man. He came out a major in the Army—and I think that speaks for itself."

Anyway, no one had a better time at the home ceremony than "Aunt" Stanny—who was the second prettiest girl to the bride.

Attention all producers—here's good news! Montgomery Clift has sent his agent word he will return home and is ready to listen to movie offers.

Maria Montez has her Hollywood house up for sale, which seems to indicate that she and Jean pierre Aumont will not return to Hollywood for a long time.

Lazar Wexler, who produced "The Search," one of the all-time fine pictures, is in town. He has a date with Dorothy Parker to talk about another movie. Reminds me, I hear tell Dorothy's ex-husband, Allan Parker, is headed for Hollywood for an assignment.

Dennis Day, his wife and baby will spend his vacation in Ireland. Sure they'll love him and his family. Wish I could go again this summer.

I met Dan and Mrs. Dailey at one of the New Year's parties, and she is extremely attractive. They plan to take their sixteen-months-old son to New York as soon as Dan finishes his movie, to visit his parents.

Fred Astarie was a happy man when his horse romped in and paid $17.50 for $2 at Santa Anita. Fred put a sizeable chunk on his thoroughbred. The Alan Ladds horse paid $16.80 the same day.

Gary Cooper, Rocky and Maria are motoring to Colorado to look at the property he bought there a few months ago.

Gene Markey is writing a story for Myrna Loy and they will make it in England—but not until Myrna comes back here to keep a commitment.

I thought everybody was in Los Angeles over the holidays, but the Oscar Levants were at the Biltmore in Palm Springs. Gail Patrick and Corny Jackson were at the Racquet Club.

Lou Bunin, who made "Alice's Adventures In Wonderland" in Europe, is here with his picture. He says it is much cheaper to make pictures in Hollywood than in Europe.

That's all today.

The cathedral at Ciudad Trujillo, formerly Santo Domingo, capital of Dominican Republic, was started in 1514, completed in 1540. Richly embellished with carved mahogany, some of which is considered the finest in the world, it still is in splendid condition after over four centuries in the tropics.

A check on a field of clover recently showed that more than four-fifths of the pollinating insects were honey bees.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5—(INS)—The biggest show on earth is being planned for April 1st by the Friars Club, proceeds to go to the Motion Picture Relief Fund. It's not generally known that the fund has been badly in need of money to care for the many cases—more than double this year.

Rita Hayworth

So, it's high time, I say, that the industry does something for its own. George Jessel and Jack Benny will be masters of ceremony, which ought to guarantee a great evening. George Burns, and practically every big name in town (male, of course) will be there on the program.

Harry Cohn, who is chairman of the big event, and William Perlberg, who is chairman for the fund, have started the ball rolling.

Barry Sullivan is jumping and jiving over the way 1949 has started for him. After a long run of cowboy and heavy roles, he steps out in the big league as Clark Gable's sidewick in "Any Number Can Play."

As news of these new contracts keep coming into my office, I am convinced that Hollywood is recovering from its 1948 jitters. After all the moaning, when the count was in, the box office was only a little off 1947's good record.

There were no fanccy frills at the wedding of Barbara Stanwyck's nephew, Eugene Vaslett, to pretty Barbara Bacon. It was just a simple family affair because that is the way Barbara likes things.

But, her eyes certainly shone with pride. Barbara manages to keep most of her private affairs so private that I didn't even know she had a nephew until news of his marriage on Tuesday.

"I certainly don't mind if you say I'm proud of him," Barbara said. "Eugene is a gradate of Notre Dame and he went into the service as an enlisted man. He came out a major in the Army—and I think that speaks for itself."

Maria Montez has her Hollywood house up for sale, which seems to indicate that she and Jean pierre Aumont will not return to Hollywood for a long time.

Lazar Wexler, who produced "The Search," one of the all-time fine pictures, is in town. He has a date with Dorothy Parker to talk about another movie. Reminds me, I hear tell Dorothy's ex-husband, Allan Parker, is headed for Hollywood for an assignment.

Dennis Day, his wife and baby will spend his vacation in Ireland. Sure they'll love him and his family. Wish I could go again this summer.

I met Dan and Mrs. Dailey at one of the New Year's parties, and she is extremely attractive. They plan to take their sixteen-months-old son to New York as soon as Dan finishes his movie, to visit his parents.

Fred Astarie was a happy man when his horse romped in and paid $17.50 for $2 at Santa Anita. Fred put a sizeable chunk on his thoroughbred. The Alan Ladds horse paid $16.80 the same day.

Gary Cooper, Rocky and Maria are motoring to Colorado to look at the property he bought there a few months ago.

Gene Markey is writing a story for Myrna Loy and they will make it in England—but not until Myrna comes back here to keep a commitment.

I thought everybody was in Los Angeles over the holidays, but the Oscar Levants were at the Biltmore in Palm Springs. Gail Patrick and Corny Jackson were at the Racquet Club.

The cathedral at Ciudad Trujillo, formerly Santo Domingo, capital of Dominican Republic, was started in 1514, completed in 1540. Richly embellished with carved mahogany, some of which is considered the finest in the world, it still is in splendid condition after over four centuries in the tropics.

A check on a field of clover recently showed that more than four-fifths of the pollinating insects were honey bees.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Down With the Critics

In the anniversary issue of "Variety," Jack Benny, the $2,260,000 comedian, has broken a lance over the skulls of radio critics, an easy target and one that hardly justifies the expense—lances being pretty expensive these days. If you over look the extravagance though, Mr. Benny has a pretty good point and, since I've temporarily run short of lances of my own to break and comedians to break them against, I thought I'd turn the place over to Benny for the day. (Since columnists haven't as much space at their disposal as comedians, this has had to be drastically condensed.) Take it away, Mr. Benny.

John Crosby

• — • — •

"The past several years I've noticed radio editors gang up on radio comedians and accuse them of using the same type of humor year after year. Reviewers admit the comedians have top comedy shows, and funny programs. Their beef is the programs always use the same characters and situations.

"Amos and Andy were public favorites in 1929. They still are. Eddie Cantor, Al Jolson, Fred Allen, Burns and Allen, have all ranked high in the Hoppers for a dozen years. These comics have spent years perfecting their individual comedy styles, and would be completely lost without them. Would the critics have George and Gracie darken their dialogue and Amos and Andy jump into domestic comedy? Bob Hope has a pace and brashness I envy. But I know that I'd be floundering in 'flop-sweat' if I tried Bob's delivery. I do flatter myself into thinking Hope can't get as much out of a 'Well!!!' as I do.

"It took seventeen years to develop the characters on my show. Each week we've tried to inject a new situation, idea, or character into our script. What happens? A reviewer comes along, says the show was great, the audience loved it, the script was hilarious. . . . BUT . . . I was the same stingy, toupee-topped, faulty fiddler; Mary was still snippy; Phil continued as a fugitive from Alcoholics Anonymous; Dennis was still silly; Don continued to be fat; and Rochester was the same sassy butler he always was.

"Now, I've been reading this reviewer's column for many years, and it's a darn good column. But every week, every year, this columnist's style of writing is always the same. Always, verbs, pronouns and adjectives. Why doesn't he get some new things? (Ed. note: If he's referring to me, I added prepositions in 1946, first man in the business to change with the times.)

"Radio critics scream, 'Why don't the comics stop already with programs about Thanksgiving and Christmas. The air is filled with them.' What would they have me do on Christmas? Set off skyrockets and roman candles and have Phil wish me a Happy Fourth of July?

"On opening programs, why do the comics all do the same thing—talk about what they did on their vacations? Well, let me ask you something. If you worked with someone closely and then separated for the entire summer, what would be the first thing you'd ask him when you saw him again? How he liked Jane Russell in 'The Outlaw?'

"Oh well, television is with us now, and I'm waiting for some reviewer to say, 'It was an enjoyable video show, but darn it, always the same old faces.'"

Ingrid Bergman Stars In Counter Spy Story On NBC

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—Ingrid Bergman is to have John Hodiak as co-radio-actor when she makes an appearance in the Screen Guild of NBC Thursday night at 10. They will do a version of the counter spy story, "Notorious."

Despite all of the preliminary announcement otherwise, Frank Sinatra will not be a part of Suspense on CBS at 9 when Ethel Barrymore appears in the cast. Instead, CBS said that Gene Kelly will replace him. The story they will depict vocally is "To Find Help."

ABC again is turning its Thursday night schedule into somewhat of a topsy turvy situation. At least it is moving three programs around. The change is all due to the fact that the Jo Stafford Song show goes to 9:30. That leaves 8:30 open, with the Personal Autograph Musical slated to go in and Our Job is Manhattan to take 9 o'clock.

Larry Parks, who played in the movie of the same name, will get together with Al Jolson on NBC at 9 and serve as guest of the broadcast . . . Ed Gardner is on the bill as one of the two guests in the Dorothy Lamour NBC show at 9:30. Also on the bill is Basil Rathbone.

Continuing its five-day series on You and Growing Up, CBS at 6:15 expects to have Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota as guest speaker. He will tell about "Preparing for Citizenship."

Always, verbs, pronouns and adjectives. Why doesn't he get some new things? (Ed. note: If he's referring to me, I added prepositions in 1946, first man in the business to change with the times.)

"Radio critics scream, 'Why don't the comics stop already with programs about Thanksgiving and Christmas. The air is filled with them.' What would they have me do on Christmas? Set off skyrockets and roman candles and have Phil wish me a Happy Fourth of July?

"On opening programs, why do the comics all do the same thing—talk about what they did on their vacations? Well, let me ask you something. If you worked with someone closely and then separated for the entire summer, what would be the first thing you'd ask him when you saw him again? How he liked Jane Russell in 'The Outlaw?'

"Oh well, television is with us now, and I'm waiting for some reviewer to say, 'It was an enjoyable video show, but darn it, always the same old faces.'"

Ingrid Bergman Stars In Counter Spy Story On NBC

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—Ingrid Bergman is to have John Hodiak as co-radio-actor when she makes an appearance in the Screen Guild of NBC Thursday night at 10. They will do a version of the counter spy story, "Notorious."

Despite all of the preliminary announcement otherwise, Frank Sinatra will not be a part of Suspense on CBS at 9 when Ethel Barrymore appears in the cast. Instead, CBS said that Gene Kelly will replace him. The story they will depict vocally is "To Find Help."

ABC again is turning its Thursday night schedule into somewhat of a topsy turvy situation. At least it is moving three programs around. The change is all due to the fact that the Jo Stafford Song show goes to 9:30. That leaves 8:30 open, with the Personal Autograph Musical slated to go in and Our Job is Manhattan to take 9 o'clock.

Larry Parks, who played in the movie of the same name, will get together with Al Jolson on NBC at 9 and serve as guest of the broadcast . . . Ed Gardner is on the bill as one of the two guests in the Dorothy Lamour NBC show at 9:30. Also on the bill is Basil Rathbone.

Continuing its five-day series on You and Growing Up, CBS at 6:15 expects to have Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota as guest speaker. He will tell about "Preparing for Citizenship."

Bedford County Girl, Veteran Found Dead

BEDFORD, Pa.—A Bedford County girl and a Mercersburg, Pa., World War II veteran were found dead Tuesday, apparently victims of carbon monoxide fumes, in a station wagon parked just off the campus of Mercersburg Academy.

The bodies were identified as those of Harry C. Barges, 28, World War veteran, of Mercersburg, and Pauline Keel, 21, of Bedford Route 4, who was visiting an aunt, Mrs. Albert Esminger, Mercersburg.

The couple was last seen alive in Mercersburg late Monday night. The station wagon was observed parked just off the campus of Mercersburg Academy by a watchman, but he did not go to the car. About 6 a. m., when the station wagon was still noted parked there, the watchman investigated. Noting that the engine of the car was still running, he looked inside and saw the two bodies in the rear on the floor. He notified academy officials, who in turn summoned the police.

For some hours the identity of the girl was not learned, but State Trooper John H. Burrie finally heard that the Keel girl was missing from the home of her aunt who identified the body as that of her niece.

Trooper Burrie said that the investigation is being continued, although it was certain that carbon monoxide gas from a defective exhause had killed the couple. He said that the pipe which carries off the exhaust fumes from the engine had broken loose from the muffler and that some of the fumes had penetrated the inside of the station wagon, the windows of which were closed when the bodies were found.

Miss Keel was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Keel, of the Redbank section of Bedford county, about a mile east of the borough.

The young woman had gone to an aunt's home in Mercersburg several months ago. She made her home with her aunt, who is in ill health.

No Local B. And O. Shop Furloughs

There is no layoff in sight in the local Baltimore and Ohio shops although 400 shopworkers of the 2,755 recalled throughout the system last Saturday are being indefinitely furloughed, according to Cumberland Division officials.

The furlough will apply to men in 33 locomotive and car shops, including 30 men at the Keyser, W. Va., installation, on Friday.

The reason for the latest layoff is the seasonal decline in the railroad's freight business. A Baltimore official said the B. and O. which declared a dividend last year for the first time in 16 years handled 35,000 less carloads of freight last month than in December, 1947.

The decrease in carloadings is to be expected in December, he said because of the very large inventories in such basic materials as lumber coal and steel that have been accumulated at this time of the year by business firms and manufacturers.

When carloadings decline, he explained, it means more freight cars and locomotives are idle on the tracks and fewer men are consequently needed in the repair and maintenance shops.

The official said: "There has been a severe drop in business, particularly freight business, and it has not picked up yet."

The furlough of ten per cent of the 7,000 clerical workers in the system which started December 20 has been continued, and the official said the railroad has no immediate plans for rehiring them .

B. And O. Carloads Show Decrease

The figure for the month of December was lower than totals for the same month in 1947 and 1946 and the total for the week ended January 1 showed a marked drop from the total for the same week of '47 and a smaller decrease under the total for the last week of 1948.

Last year's total was 3,292,095, consisting of 2,094,880 loaded on line and 1,197,216 received from connections. The 1947 total was 3,470,153 and the '46 figure 3,228,322.

The December 1948 total was 252,014, as compared with 287,879 for December 1947 and 262,782 for December 1946. Last week's total was 46,410, as compared with 48,493 for the previous week and 56,094 for the same week in 1948.

Bedford County Girl, Veteran Found Dead

BEDFORD, Pa.—A Bedford County girl and a Mercersburg, Pa., World War II veteran were found dead Tuesday, apparently victims of carbon monoxide fumes, in a station wagon parked just off the campus of Mercersburg Academy.

The bodies were identified as those of Harry C. Barges, 28, World War veteran, of Mercersburg, and Pauline Keel, 21, of Bedford Route 4, who was visiting an aunt, Mrs. Albert Esminger, Mercersburg.

The couple was last seen alive in Mercersburg late Monday night. The station wagon was observed parked just off the campus of Mercersburg Academy by a watchman, but he did not go to the car. About 6 a. m., when the station wagon was still noted parked there, the watchman investigated. Noting that the engine of the car was still running, he looked inside and saw the two bodies in the rear on the floor. He notified academy officials, who in turn summoned the police.

For some hours the identity of the girl was not learned, but State Trooper John H. Burrie finally heard that the Keel girl was missing from the home of her aunt who identified the body as that of her niece.

Barges was the son of Christ Barges, who operates a pool room in Mercersburg. The young man served in the Army during the war.

Trooper Burrie said that the investigation is being continued, although it was certain that carbon monoxide gas from a defective exhause had killed the couple. He said that the pipe which carries off the exhaust fumes from the engine had broken loose from the muffler and that some of the fumes had penetrated the inside of the station wagon, the windows of which were closed when the bodies were found.

Miss Keel was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Keel, of the Redbank section of Bedford county, about a mile east of the borough.

The young woman had gone to an aunt's home in Mercersburg several months ago. She made her home with her aunt, who is in ill health.

No Local B. And O. Shop Furloughs

There is no layoff in sight in the local Baltimore and Ohio shops although 400 shopworkers of the 2,755 recalled throughout the system last Saturday are being indefinitely furloughed, according to Cumberland Division officials.

The furlough will apply to men in 33 locomotive and car shops, including 30 men at the Keyser, W. Va., installation, on Friday.

The reason for the latest layoff is the seasonal decline in the railroad's freight business. A Baltimore official said the B. and O. which declared a dividend last year for the first time in 16 years handled 35,000 less carloads of freight last month than in December, 1947.

The decrease in carloadings is to be expected in December, he said because of the very large inventories in such basic materials as lumber coal and steel that have been accumulated at this time of the year by business firms and manufacturers.

When carloadings decline, he explained, it means more freight cars and locomotives are idle on the tracks and fewer men are consequently needed in the repair and maintenance shops.

The official said: "There has been a severe drop in business, particularly freight business, and it has not picked up yet."

Included among the furloughed workers are electricians, carpenters pipe fitters, sheet metal workers blacksmiths and molders.

The furlough of ten per cent of the 7,000 clerical workers in the system which started December 20 has been continued, and the official said the railroad has no immediate plans for rehiring them.

B. And O. Carloads Show Decrease

Carloads handled on the B. and O. Railroad during 1948 showed a slight decrease under figures for 1947 and a slight increase over the 1946 total.

The figure for the month of December was lower than totals for the same month in 1947 and 1946 and the total for the week ended January 1 showed a marked drop from the total for the same week of '47 and a smaller decrease under the total for the last week of 1948.

Last year's total was 3,292,095, consisting of 2,094,880 loaded on line and 1,197,216 received from connections. The 1947 total was 3,470,153 and the '46 figure 3,228,322.

The December 1948 total was 252,014, as compared with 287,279 for December 1947 and 262,782 for December 1946. Last week's total was 46,410, as compared with 48,493 for the previous week and 56,094 for the same week in 1948.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Father and husband, Hugh McMillan, who departed this life three years ago, January 4, 1946.

Dad sleeps in peace,
A smile upon his face,
Our love for him will never cease
As he is in a better place.
For his soul is in God's care,
For us he always did his best,
We put the silver in his hair.
Dad sleeps but he is not alone.
He sleeps with the angels near.
We always keep his memory dear.

Sadly missed by his sons, daughters and wife,
MRS. HUGH McMILLAN AND FAMILY.

Funeral Notice

SHIELDS—Ward O., Tuesday, January 4, 1949 at Washington, D. C. Ward O. Shields beloved husband of Mrs. Amelia Shields; father of Mrs. Evelyn Taylor and Mrs. Mary Bryan; grandfather of Jeanne Taylor, Joan, John and Susan Bryan; and brother of Mrs. Myra Wetheger, Baltimore, Md. Friends may call at the Lee Funeral Home, Fourth St. and Massachusetts Ave., N. E., Washington, D. C., where services will be held on Friday, January 7 at 10 A. M.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Father and husband, Hugh McMillan, who departed this life three years ago, January 6, 1946.

Dad sleeps in peace,
A smile upon his face,
Our love for him will never cease
As he is in a better place.
For his soul is in God's care,
For us he always did his best,
We put the silver in his hair,
Dad sleeps but he is not alone.
He sleeps with the angels near.
We always keep his memory dear.

Sadly missed by his sons, daughters and wife,
MRS. HUGH McMILLAN AND FAMILY.

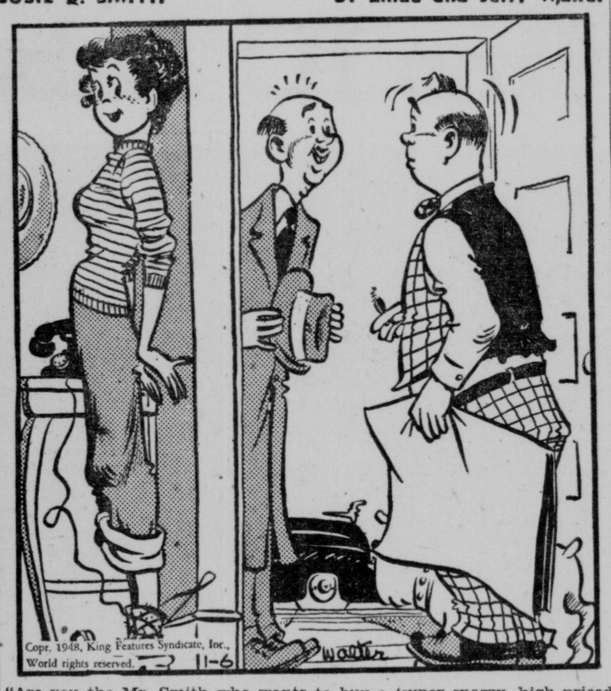
SUSIE Q. SMITH — By Linda and Jerry Walter



"Are you the Mr. Smith who wants to buy a 'super-snazzy, high-priced convertible'?"

Stock Market Takes Heart After Hearing Presidential Message

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Presidential message to Congress turned out to be a little better than Wall Street expected and stock prices advanced.

Trading activity increased only slightly and failed to measure up to the 1,000,000-share level which prevailed most of December. Sales of 800,000 shares, though, were considerably above yesterday's 640,000 shares, which was a low since mid-August.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .6 of one point to 64.3. This was the largest average gain since a similar move ahead on December 29 which in turn was the best since December 1.

The market remained unusually narrow. A total of 944 issues were traded, above yesterday's 921 but that was the smallest since October 11. Of today's total, 631 advanced and 143 declined.

Issues closing higher included U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, National Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Lockheed, Schenley, American Broadcasting, Twin Coach, American Telephone, Western Union, Commonwealth Edison, Kennecott Copper, Phelps Dodge, Westinghouse Electric, Dow Chemical, du Pont, Allied Chemical (up 4¾ at 183½), Radio Corp., American Woolen, Southern Railway, Illinois Central, Gulf Oil, Skelly Oil, American Airlines, and Mission Corp.

Numerous gains of one to two points were posted in the corporate bond market. Business perked up in the afternoon following president Truman's address to Congress.

The volume was small, however, with sales of $3,000,000 and compared with Tuesday's $2,250,000.

Stockyard Gross Nearly A Million

Gross sales of nearly $1,000,000 were reported by the Cumberland Stockyards, Inc., during 1948, according to a board of directors report released by President Harry J. Barton, Pinto.

Receipts to the company through commissions and yardage (costs of pennage and handling) increased 75 per cent and expenses increased only 45 per cent as compared to 1947, the report revealed.

The company has no indebtedness and total assets are valued at $18,456.81. There are 82 stockholders and 225 shares of stock at $50 par value. The stocks are held entirely by farmer-producers in Allegany county, and adjoining counties in West Virginia and Pennsylvania. No stockholder is allowed more than five shares.

During 1948, the yards handled approximately 16,000 head of livestock, 170,000 chickens and, in addition, sold at auction miscellaneous produce such as apples and vegetables and miscellaneous farm supplies. The market is known for being one of nation's best for veal calves.

R. F. McHenry, county agent, praised the work of the concern yesterday, declaring it a distinct and permanent asset to the community.

Neil Fraley Named Garrett's Senator

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 5 (AP)—A brother succeeded a brother as State Senator from Garrett County tonight.

Neil C. Fraley, former county State's Attorney, was appointed to the post his brother, Senator Lawrence Fraley (R-Garrett), resigned because of ill health.

Neil Fraley arrived at 7:40 p. m. He carried with him Lawrence's resignation and his own endorsement from the Republican State Central Committee of the county.

He was met at the State House entrance by Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) who escorted him to the Governor's office.

The Governor had Fraley's appointment all ready, so that the new Senator could be sworn in immediately after the legislature convened.

Fraley was State's Attorney 12 years. He retired two years ago and has been practicing law in Oakland since.

He commented that he hoped he "can do as good a job representing the people of Garrett County as my brother has."

Another Garrett County legislator was unable to be on hand for the opening. He is delegate McIntire, who suffered a heart attack during the deer hunting season.

SUSIE Q. SMITH — By Linda and Jerry Walter

Stock Market Takes Heart After Hearing Presidential Message

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Presidential message to Congress turned out to be a little better than Wall Street expected and stock prices advanced.

Trading activity increased only slightly and failed to measure up to the 1,000,000-share level which prevailed most of December. Sales of 800,000 shares, though, were considerably above yesterday's 640,000 shares, which was a low since mid-August.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .6 of one point to 64.3. This was the largest average gain since a similar move ahead on December 29 which in turn was the best since December 1.

The market remained unusually narrow. A total of 944 issues were traded, above yesterday's 921 but that was the smallest since October 11. Of today's total, 631 advanced and 143 declined.

Issues closing higher included U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, National Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Lockheed, Schenley, American Broadcasting, Twin Coach, American Telephone, Western Union, Commonwealth Edison, Kennecott Copper, Phelps Dodge, Westinghouse Electric, Dow Chemical, du Pont, Allied Chemical (up 4¾ at 183½), Radio Corp., American Woolen, Southern Railway, Illinois Central, Gulf Oil, Skelly Oil, American Airlines, and Mission Corp.

Numerous gains of one to two points were posted in the corporate bond market. Business perked up in the afternoon following president Truman's address to Congress.

The volume was small, however, with sales of $3,000,000 and compared with Tuesday's $2,250,000.

Stockyard Gross Nearly A Million

Gross sales of nearly $1,000,000 were reported by the Cumberland Stockyards, Inc., during 1948, according to a board of directors report released by President Harry J. Barton, Pinto.

Receipts to the company through commissions and yardage (costs of pennage and handling) increased 75 per cent and expenses increased only 45 per cent as compared to 1947, the report revealed.

The company has no indebtedness and total assets are valued at $18,-456.81. There are 82 stockholders and 225 shares of stock at $50 par value. The stocks are held entirely by farmer-producers in Allegany county, and adjoining counties in West Virginia and Pennsylvania. No stockholder is allowed more than five shares.

During 1948, the yards handled approximately 16,000 head of livestock, 170,000 chickens and, in addition, sold at auction miscellaneous produce such as apples and vegetables and miscellaneous farm supplies. The market is known for being one of nation's best for veal calves.

R. F. McHenry, county agent, praised the work of the concern yesterday, declaring it a distinct and permanent asset to the community.

NEWS Reporter Wins JC Labor Relations Award

Blackburn Is Cited For His Factual Work

O. B. Case Named Best Boss Of Year

C. Wesley Blackburn, Cumberland NEWS reporter and staff writer, was presented the Labor Relations Award of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce last night at their annual recognition dinner at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Press and Radio awards were accepted by Eugene T. Gunning, assistant managing editor of the Cumberland Evening Times for the Times-News papers; Edwin F. Hinkle, program director, for Station WTBO, and Floyd V. Cozad, acting manager, for Station WCUM.

The Jaycee annual Good Government Award, presented to the person or group which has made the most important contribution to good government in Cumberland, was presented to members of the Cumberland Charter Committee. The award was accepted by John M. Robb, commission secretary.

Case Wins Boss Award

The Outstanding Boss Award was presented to O. B. Case, plant manager of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory of the Hercules Powder Company.

An associate, commenting on the successful operation of the plant said, "Hercules policies account for 10 per cent and Case's interpretation and application of these policies the other 90 per cent."

Both staff and union of the plant paid tribute to Case as an "outstanding boss."

Reporter Surprised

The Labor Relations award, coming as a complete surprise to cover the meeting for his paper, it was explained to members and guests present that his name had been submitted by a number of persons as a result of his impersonal and impartial coverage of labor-management news over a long period of time.

Blackburn's regular news beat is classified as "the labor beat," and in the capacity of labor-management reporter, he has accumulated a vast knowledge of the workings of organized labor, management, contracts, disputes, differences, strikes, etc. Through all the myriad of detail and development on such a beat, Blackburn has covered his assignments without malice and in such a fair and conscientious manner, he has gained the respect of labor and management generally.

The Junior Association of Commerce Award Committee recognized his efforts in a field usually wrought with differences and oftimes heated opinions. He is credited with helping ease many situations and at no time has attempted to add "fuel to the fire" merely for the sake of making sensational news. The Jaycee committee said of him, "He is fair, impartial, accurate, and has done much to promote better relations between management and labor in the community."

Is Former Teacher

Blackburn, a native of Keyser, W. Va., is a former high school teacher and came to the NEWS staff in 1940. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree at West Virginia University in 1928 and his Master of Arts degree in 1932.

During World War II he served 14 months with the 101st Airborne Division as a radio operator. Upon his return from service, he resumed his duties with the NEWS and took over the labor-management beat and general writing assignments.

Miss Nancy Eaton, Westernport, Bruce High School senior, winner of the Maryland "I Speak for Democracy" contest, was a guest and presented her speech which is now being considered in the regional contests.

License Issued

A beer and wine license was issued yesterday by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board to Melvin V. Hafer, 20 North Mechanic Street.

Weather

Warm yesterday and warmer last night. The 10 p. m. reading of 41 degrees exceeded any in the previous 24 hours. There was very little change all day, however, with the minimum temperature only five degrees lower. Cumberlanders will be surprised to learn that the all-day downpour only netted 0.65 inch. Regardless of indications from this side of the mountains, the prophets insist it will be very much colder today.

City Is Defendant In $10,000 Suit Over Airport

Former Lessee Seeks Settlement Of Claim

Suit for $10,000 was filed against the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland in Circuit Court yesterday by Cumberland Airways, Inc., through the firm's attorneys. Charles Z. Heskett and John T. Fey.

The declaration outlines that William J. Graham entered into a contract agreement with the City of Cumberland pertaining to the operation of the Cumberland Municipal Airport here. The agreement was subsequently assigned by Graham to the Cumberland Airways, Inc.

In the agreement with the city, it is claimed, the Mayor and City Council agreed to pay the plaintiff for certain capital improvements at the Airport. It is further alleged that when the claim for these improvements, less depreciation, was presented, the city refused payment.

City officials said the Cumberland Airways, Inc., operated the Municipal Airport here for two years and when the contract lease was not renewed, a difference arose over the amount due the firm from the city because of a difference of opinion on certain expense items appearing in the financial statement submitted to the city by the company.

Under the terms of the lease, the city was to receive all airport profits over $1,000 per year. The dispute results, officials said, over the auditor's analysis of the operation statement and some items shown as expenses. When the matter was aired sometime ago by city officials, they agreed that total payment should be withheld until a settlement was reached.

The city contends, according to reports at that time, that it is entitled to $2,468.01 for the two-year lease period. At that time the company claimed $8,502.25 still due from the city.

Kauffman was selected for the top Jaycee honor by a committee of leading citizens headed by Frederic W. Eller, which paid tribute to Kauffman's civic enterprises during the past nine years.

Kauffman was born in Philadelphia, Pa., March 30, 1915. He is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1932, and received an A. B. degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1936 and an L. L. Arbitrator Rules For Company In Celanese Cases

Says Employe Can't Profit From Loafing

Two cases of arbitration between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, and the Celanese Corporation of America have been decided in favor of the company, according to a report completed by Sidney A. Wolfe, arbitrator.

The grievance of Joseph Lynch Mt. Savage, claiming four hours pay was denied on the grounds that the company has the right to discipline its employes for misconduct.

On Thursday, September 25, 1947, the report shows, Lynch was employed as a helper in the engineering department on the 3 to 11 p. m. shift. At about 10:35 p. m. he was found "loafing" by two patrolmen in the C. A. cafeteria compound about one-fifth mile from his working area.

A report was written by the patrolmen and this report reached Lynch's foreman the next day. (Friday) at 1 p. m. When Lynch arrived at the plant at about 2:30 p. m. his foreman appraised him of the loafing charge. Lynch admitted it and his foreman ordered a two-day suspension, to start at once.

Lynch filed his grievance under a clause which states that an employe reporting for work shall be guaranteed four hours work or pay.

The arbitrator found that employes cannot be permitted to profit by their wrong-doings, and the company did not profit by sending Lynch home, because it was required to pay about the amount involved in overtime pay to another employe to do Lynch's work.

In the second case, an attempt to reopen a previous complaint, the arbitrator ruled the matter had been disposed of January 6, 1948. This case, involving a claim for specialty pay, was a grievance filed by James Athey and Charles W. Broadwater.

The two men were employed in the Site and Sanitation Department and did work of landscaping and extermination. They claimed 10 cents an hour additional as specialist classification pay.

The arbitrator previously ruled the company should pay the differential for extermination work but not for landscaping work.

The Company paid the back pay due and abided by the ruling. However, due to lack of extermination work Broadwater has not been doing that work, but has been transferred to landscaping.

The arbitrator upheld the former ruling that the specialist pay is to be paid when the men work on extermination, but the lower rate prevails when they work on landscaping. The grievance was disallowed.

Baltimore Hits Phone Rate Hike

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP) — The city moved today to fight a proposed increase in Maryland telephone rates.

It asked the Maryland Public Service Commission for authority to enter the proceedings as an interested party, pointing out that most of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company's Maryland subscribers live in Baltimore.

"It is the considered opinion," said the city's petition, "that its best interests and those of its residents require that it actively oppose any increase in present telephone tariffs."

The telephone company asked the Commission on November 10 for rate increases which would cost Maryland residents about $6,000,000 a year.

Home telephones would cost about 25 cents a month more, business service about $1.50 more. Toll calls within the state would go up from 15 to 25 per cent.

In mid-December the company asked for temporary increases of about $4,000,000 a year pending the outcome of its application for the permanent rate change.

The state also has petitioned the PSC for permission to enter the case as an interested party.

Police Probe Midnight Entry At Library

County authorities and City Police were called to the Public Library, Washington Street and Prospect Square, about midnight last night after two intruders entered the building.

Observers said one officer fired at one of the intruders, who ran. Deputy Sheriff William Chappell chased him to Mechanic Street, where he escaped. Sheriff Edward Muir remained at the scene, since first reports indicated the other man was still inside.

County officers were notified of the entry by a passerby who saw the men enter through a window as he was walking up Washington Street. Assistant Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney, Detective Ernest M. Powell and Officer John G. Powers investigated for City Police.

New Psychiatric Social Worker To Begin Duties

Miss Ella Darling Appointed Here

Appointment of Miss Ella Darling as full-time resident psychiatric social worker attached to the Health Department was announced yesterday by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

For the past four years Miss Darling has served as probation officer at the Juvenile Court Clinic in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Frantz explained that Miss Darling will conduct a three-fold program of psychiatric social work with children, adults and paroled patients from Springfield State Hospital at Sykesville.

Her office will be located in remodeled clinic quarters recently set up in the basement of City Hall.

Miss Darling will begin her duties today, when the two-day monthly mental hygiene clinic conducted by Dr. Gertrude Gross, psychiatric consultant for the State Department of Health, will begin. Marshall Bruce is the clinic psychologist.

Dr. Kenneth B. Jones, chief of the division of mental hygiene of the State Department of Health, will visit the clinic today. Dr. Jones visited Cumberland early last year when plans were made to resume the clinics after a lapse during the war years.

Prior to coming to Cumberland yesterday, Miss Darling spent four weeks visiting other mental hygiene clinics in Maryland, including the model clinic in Prince Georges County.

Miss Darling, whose home is in Meredith, N. H., holds a bachelor of arts degree from Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., and a master of social science degree from Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

During the war she served one year on the staff of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington. Prior to that time she was associated with private family welfare agencies in Williamsport and Scranton, Pa.

Her father, the late Ira A. Darling, who was superintendent of Springfield State Hospital from 1936 until 1939, aided in establishing a mental hygiene clinic in Cumberland before the war.

Heavy Rains Cause U. S. Engineers To Gauge Savage River Crest Level

Heavy rains in the eastern United States have resulted in the U. S. Engineers office gauging the rise of the Savage River at a point above the partially completed dam, according to John W. Wright, in charge of the local office.

Wright said a call from D. V. C. Birrell, chief of the Flood Control Branch of the U. S. Engineers, yesterday set operations in motion.

The staff worked yesterday to fix a point of gauging on the dam itself and will measure the rise of the water at least once an hour until it reaches a crest today.

Two members of the U. S. Geological Survey wil arrive in Cumberland to accompany Wright to the measuring site. Although, it has no facilities for measuring the amount of water held back by the partly built dam.

Observations from the preliminary survey yesterday did not seem to indicate unusually high water, Wright said. However, research will mostly be done on the effect of rain in Washington and parts of Pennsylvania on the Savage River watershed.

This is the first time the engineers have gauged any local streams. They will add their findings to the data being gathered for the flood control project.

Yesterday, the tunnel built under the dam seemed capable of taking care of the overflow of water although the river was nearing its banks, according to Wright.

Survey Planned On Status Of Area TB Work

Seal Sale Returns Amount To $8,125

Plans for a survey to determine present use of funds for tuberculosis work in X-ray facilities and clinics were discussed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association yesterday in the office of City Commissioner William J. Edwards, chairman.

Edwards reported that contributions to date in the 1948 Christmas Seal campaign total $8,125.30. The county goal is $10,000.

Approaching Last Total

Edwards pointed out that the contributions to date are within $800 of the total amount contributed in last year's drive.

The meeting was called at the suggestion of Mrs. Ruth K. Graham, Baltimore, director of county organization for the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

Mrs. Graham said she would assist Mrs. Teresa Longwell, executive secretary of the county association, in making the survey on the status of tuberculosis work and in setting up a tentative program for next year.

No local check has been made of the number of contributors purchasing both sheets of 100 Christmas Seals contained in each envelope, but the Westernport chairman, Miss Mary Hanna, has reported that one out of every eight persons contributed $2 instead of the usual $1, he said.

Exclusive of Frostburg and Westernport, 5,411 of the 14,000 Christmas Seal envelopes mailed to county residents have been returned, Mrs. Longwell reported.

The executive secretary said follow-up cards will be sent out next week to urge contributors to mail their donations as soon as possible

State Will Pay

Mrs. Graham said the state association has made an arrangement with the State Department of Health whereby the latter will pay for X-ray films and developer used in taking chest X-rays. This is expected to save the local association about $1,000 a year, she said.

The group voted to send Mrs. Longwell to a three-day training institute for executive secretaries, to be held February 17-19 in Baltimore at headquarters of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

Location of central office space for the association, and regular dates for executive committee meetings will be determined later.

Besides Edwards, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Longwell, others attending the meeting were Mrs. Julius Abramson, Frostburg, and Mrs. Aurelia S. Becker, first and second vice presidents; Benjamin W. Wright, secretary, and Joseph M. Naughton, treasurer.

Telegraph Line Relocation Cited

Cost of relocating telegraph lines along the Baltimore and Ohio viaduct in connection with the Cumberland flood control project was discussed at a conference yesterday afternoon in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Three B. and O. officials from Baltimore who attended the conference were R. D. Bewick, assistant engineer; C. L. Kroll, senior assistant engineer, and Joseph W. Jones, regional engineer.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said the city will file in escrow about $7,000 to guarantee final payment of the cost of relocating the lines.

Final changes in permanent easements on railroad property in connection with the project were discussed.

Another topic considered was the type of insurance to be obtained to protect the railroad against damages while the work is in process.

Man Collapses On Liberty Street

A 32-year-old man collapsed early yesterday afternoon in front of a South Liberty Street establishment and was driven by T. Sgt. John Newhouse to Memorial Hospital in the Cumberland Police Department's emergency car.

Attaches said the man, John Davis, Olympia Hotel, apparently had recovered as he walked into the dispensary. He was examined and sent home.

William H. Buley, 406 Pulaski Street, meter collector for the Police Department, is confined to Memorial Hospital with pneumonia. Attendants said his condition was "somewhat improved" last night.

TWUA Committee Will Spend $300 To Restock Rabbits In This Area

George Walters, chairman of the Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, Conservation Committee, announced last night that the committee has been authorized to spend $300 for restocking of rabbits in Allegany and Garrett Counties, Md., and Mineral County, W. Va.

He said the union hopes to secure about 20 dozen rabbits from Kansas to be distributed according to the ratio of its membership in the three counties.

Present plans, he added, call for similar stocking of other game in co-operation with state and county conservation groups.

The union Conservation committee, which includes Francis Michaels, George Shriver and Peter Ferrato, has been active in all phases of conservation work for several years.

The committee estimates that at least 5,000 of its members take an active interest in either hunting or fishing.

The rabbit stocking program will be the local's first venture into the game stocking work of this area.

Walters said the committee will present a report to the membership as to the distribution of the game.

The awards were presented for work in publishing articles and announcement of public interest and importance during the year.

The Jaycee annual Good Government Award, presented to the person or group which has made the most important contribution to good government in Cumberland, was presented to members of the Cumberland Charter Committee. The award was accepted by John M. Robb, commission secretary.

Members of the Cumberland Charter Commission are Isaac Hirsch, chairman; W. Earle Cobey, vice chairman; John M. Robb, secretary; Mrs. Emma Everstine, Owen E. Hitchens, Charles A. Piper, Earl L. Bracey, Frank A. Wolfhope, William J. Jones, J. William Hunt, Eugene N. Bourkel, Thomas L. Richards and George Buchanan, members; Thomas B. Finan, David Kauffman and Charles Z. Heskett, counsel.

Case Wins Boss Award

The Outstanding Boss Award was presented to O. B. Case, plant manager of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory of the Hercules Powder Company.

The award is presented annually to the person who exemplifies the best characteristics of an employer.

An associate, commenting on the successful operation of the plant said, "Hercules policies account for 10 per cent and Case's interpretation and application of these policies the other 90 per cent."

Both staff and union of the plant paid tribute to Case as an "outstanding boss."

Reporter Surprised

The Labor Relations award, coming as a complete surprise to cover the meeting for his paper, it was explained to members and guests present that his name had been submitted by a number of persons as a result of his impersonal and impartial coverage of labor-management news over a long period of time.

Blackburn's regular news beat is classified as "the labor beat," and in the capacity of labor-management reporter, he has accumulated a vast knowledge of the workings of organized labor, management, contracts, disputes, differences, strikes, etc. Through all the myriad of detail and development on such a beat, Blackburn has covered his assignments without malice and in such a fair and conscientious manner, he has gained the respect of labor and management generally.

The Junior Association of Commerce Award Committee recognized his efforts in a field usually wrought with differences and oftimes heated opinions. He is credited with helping ease many situations and at no time has attempted to add "fuel to the fire" merely for the sake of making sensational news. The Jaycee committee said of him, "He is fair, impartial, accurate, and has done much to promote better relations between management and labor in the community."

Is Former Teacher

Blackburn, a native of Keyser, W. Va., is a former high school teacher and came to the NEWS staff in 1940. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree at West Virginia University in 1928 and his Master of Arts degree in 1932.

During World War II he served 14 months with the 101st Airborne Division as a radio operator. Upon his return from service, he resumed his duties with the NEWS and took over the labor-management beat and general writing assignments.

Miss Nancy Eaton, Westernport, Bruce High School senior, winner of the Maryland "I Speak for Democracy" contest, was a guest and presented her speech which is now being considered in the regional contests.

Bosses of Jaycee members attending the recognition banquet were introduced at the opening of the meeting.

City Is Defendant In $10,000 Suit Over Airport

Former Lessee Seeks Settlement Of Claim

Suit for $10,000 was filed against the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland in Circuit Court yesterday by Cumberland Airways, Inc., through the firm's attorneys, Charles Z. Heskett and John T. Fey.

The declaration outlines that William J. Graham entered into a contract agreement with the City of Cumberland pertaining to the operation of the Cumberland Municipal Airport here. The agreement was subsequently assigned by Graham to the Cumberland Airways, Inc.

In the agreement with the city, it is claimed, the Mayor and City Council agreed to pay the plaintiff for certain capital improvements at the Airport. It is further alleged that when the claim for these improvements, less depreciation, was presented, the city refused payment.

City officials said the Cumberland Airways, Inc., operated the Municipal Airport here for two years and when the contract lease was not renewed, a difference arose over the amount due the firm from the city because of a difference of opinion on certain expense items appearing in the financial statement submitted to the city by the company.

Under the terms of the lease, the city was to receive all airport profits over $1,000 per year. The dispute results, officials said, over the auditor's analysis of the operation statement and some items shown as expenses. When the matter was aired sometime ago by city officials, they agreed that total payment should be withheld until a settlement was reached.

The city contends, according to reports at that time, that it is entitled to $2,468.01 for the two-year lease period. At that time the company claimed $8,502.25 still due from the city.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP) — The city moved today to fight a proposed increase in Maryland telephone rates.

It asked the Maryland Public Service Commission for authority to enter the proceedings as an interested party, pointing out that most of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company's Maryland subscribers live in Baltimore.

"It is the considered opinion," said the city's petition, "that its best interests and those of its residents require that it actively oppose any increase in present telephone tariffs."

The city pointed out that it also pays for a lot of telephone service.

The telephone company asked the Commission on November 10 for rate increases which would cost Maryland residents about $6,000,000 a year.

Home telephones would cost about 25 cents a month more, business service about $1.50 more. Toll calls within the state would go up from 15 to 25 per cent.

In mid-December the company asked for temporary increases of about $4,000,000 a year pending the outcome of its application for the permanent rate change.

The state also has petitioned the PSC for permission to enter the case as an interested party.

Police Probe Midnight Entry At Library

County authorities and City Police were called to the Public Library, Washington Street and Prospect Square, about midnight last night after two intruders entered the building.

Observers said one officer fired at one of the intruders, who ran. Deputy Sheriff William Chappell chased him to Mechanic Street, where he escaped. Sheriff Edward Muir remained at the scene, since first reports indicated the other man was still inside.

County officers were notified of the entry by a passerby who saw the men enter through a window as he was walking up Washington Street. Assistant Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney, Detective Ernest M. Powell and Officer John G. Powers investigated for City Police.

New Psychiatric Social Worker To Begin Duties

Miss Ella Darling Appointed Here

Appointment of Miss Ella Darling as full-time resident psychiatric social worker attached to the Health Department was announced yesterday by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

For the past four years Miss Darling has served as probation officer at the Juvenile Court Clinic in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Frantz explained that Miss Darling will conduct a three-fold program of psychiatric social work with children, adults and paroled patients from Springfield State Hospital at Sykesville.

Her office will be located in remodeled clinic quarters recently set up in the basement of City Hall.

Miss Darling will begin her duties today, when the two-day monthly mental hygiene clinic conducted by Dr. Gertrude Gross, psychiatric consultant for the State Department of Health, will begin. Marshall Bruce is the clinic psychologist.

Dr. Kenneth B. Jones, chief of the division of mental hygiene of the State Department of Health, will visit the clinic today. Dr. Jones visited Cumberland early last year when plans were made to resume the clinics after a lapse during the war years.

Prior to coming to Cumberland yesterday, Miss Darling spent four weeks visiting other mental hygiene clinics in Maryland, including the model clinic in Prince Georges County.

Miss Darling, whose home is in Meredith, N. H., holds a bachelor of arts degree from Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., and a master of social science degree from Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

During the war she served one year on the staff of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington. Prior to that time she was associated with private family welfare agencies in Williamsport and Scranton, Pa.

Her father, the late Ira A. Darling, who was superintendent of Springfield State Hospital from 1936 until 1939, aided in establishing a mental hygiene clinic in Cumberland before the war.

Telegraph Line Relocation Cited

Cost of relocating telegraph lines along the Baltimore and Ohio viaduct in connection with the Cumberland flood control project was discussed at a conference yesterday afternoon in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Three B. and O. officials from Baltimore who attended the conference were R. D. Bewick, assistant engineer; C. L. Kroll, senior assistant engineer, and Joseph W. Jones, regional engineer.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said the city will file in escrow about $7,000 to guarantee final payment of the cost of relocating the lines.

Final changes in permanent easements on railroad property in connection with the project were discussed.

Another topic considered was the type of insurance to be obtained to protect the railroad against damages while the work is in process.

Man Collapses On Liberty Street

A 32-year-old man collapsed early yesterday afternoon in front of a South Liberty Street establishment and was driven by T. Sgt. John Newhouse to Memorial Hospital in the Cumberland Police Department's emergency car.

Attaches said the man, John Davis, Olympia Hotel, apparently had recovered as he walked into the dispensary. He was examined and sent home.

William H. Buley, 406 Pulaski Street, meter collector for the Police Department, is confined to Memorial Hospital with pneumonia. Attendants said his condition was "somewhat improved" last night.

License Issued

A beer and wine license was issued yesterday by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board to Melvin V. Hafer, 20 North Mechanic Street.

Weather

Warm yesterday and warmer last night. The 10 p. m. reading of 41 degrees exceeded any in the previous 24 hours. There was very little change all day, however, with the minimum temperature only five degrees lower. Cumberlanders will be surprised to learn that the all-day downpour only netted 0.65 inch. Regardless of indications from this side of the mountains, the prophets insist it will be very much colder today.

Heavy Rains Cause U. S. Engineers To Gauge Savage River Crest Level

Heavy rains in the eastern United States have resulted in the U. S. Engineers office gauging the rise of the Savage River at a point above the partially completed dam, according to John W. Wright, in charge of the local office.

Wright said a call from D. V. C. Birrell, chief of the Flood Control Branch of the U. S. Engineers, yesterday set operations in motion.

The staff worked yesterday to fix a point of gauging on the dam itself and will measure the rise of the water at least once an hour until it reaches a crest today.

Two members of the U. S. Geological Survey wil arrive in Cumberland to accompany Wright to the measuring site. Although, it has no facilities for measuring the amount of water held back by the partly built dam.

Observations from the preliminary survey yesterday did not seem to indicate unusually high water, Wright said. However, research will mostly be done on the effect of rain in Washington and parts of Pennsylvania on the Savage River watershed.

This is the first time the engineers have gauged any local streams. They will add their findings to the data being gathered for the flood control project.

Yesterday, the tunnel built under the dam seemed capable of taking care of the overflow of water although the river was nearing its banks, according to Wright.

TWUA Committee Will Spend $300 To Restock Rabbits In This Area

George Walters, chairman of the Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, Conservation Committee, announced last night that the committee has been authorized to spend $300 for restocking of rabbits in Allegany and Garrett Counties, Md., and Mineral County, W. Va.

He said the union hopes to secure about 20 dozen rabbits from Kansas to be distributed according to the ratio of its membership in the three counties.

Present plans, he added, call for similar stocking of other game in co-operation with state and county conservation groups.

The union Conservation committee, which includes Francis Michaels, George Shriver and Peter Ferrato, has been active in all phases of conservation work for several years.

The committee estimates that at least 5,000 of its members take an active interest in either hunting or fishing.

The rabbit stocking program will be the local's first venture into the game stocking work of this area.

Walters said the committee will present a report to the membership as to the distribution of the game.
